SC tears into BJP's Nupur for her hate speech

"When an FIR is registered and you are not arrested, this shows your clout. She thinks she has back up power and makes irresponsible statements," the bench said

Raps TV channel for holding the controversial debate, accuses it of promoting an agenda

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday lit into suspended BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma, saying her "loose tongue" had "set the entire country on fire", alluding to the riots that followed her hate speech against Islam during a TV debate. While refusing to entertain Sharma's plea for clubbing of FIRs gaainst her, the court allowed her to withdraw the plea.

The court observed that her remark was made either for cheap publicity, political agenda or some nefarious activities. It was hearing her petition for clubbing and transferring of all FIRs registered against her in various states to Delhi.

"These remarks are very disturbing and smack of arrogance. What is her business to make such remarks? These remarks have led to unfortunate incidents in the country. These people are not religious. They do not have respect for other religions. These remarks were made for cheap publicity or for political agenda or some other nefarious activities," said a vacation bench of justices Surya Kant and J B Pardiwala. One of the fallouts was the butchering of a tailor in Udaipur, the bench said.

"She actually has a loose tongue and has made all kinds of irresponsible statements on TV and set the entire country on fire. Yet, she claims to be a lawyer of 10 years standing. She should have immediately apologised for her comments to the whole country," the bench said. Senior advocate Maninder Singh, appearing for Sharma, said she had apologised.

On this, the bench said, "Her apology came too late and that too conditionally saying if religious sentiments are hurt and so on."

The court said her petition smacks of arrogance and that she thinks that the magistrate of the country is too small for her. "If you are a spokesperson of a party, it is not a license to say things like this," the judges said, adding, "if there was a misuse of the debate, the first thing she should have done was to file an FIR against the anchor."

Criticising the TV channel, it said, "What is the business of the TV channel to discuss the matter which is sub-judice, except to promote an agenda?"

WINDFALL TAX

Export levy hiked on transport fuel to up domestic supply

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a bid to tax the windfall gains by domestic refiners who import cheap crude oil from Russia and export the refined product at much higher prices, the Centre on Friday imposed special additional excise duty on export of petrol, diesel and aviation turbine fuel (ATF) with effect from July 1. The cess for petrol and ATF is ₹6 per litre, while it is ₹13 for diesel. In addition, a cess of ₹23,250 per tonne has been imposed on crude produced domestically.

"Domestic crude producers sell crude to domestic refineries at international parity prices. As a result, the domestic crude producers are making windfall gains," a finance ministry release said explaining the rationale behind the move.

However, there will be no cess for import of crude, the ministry clarified. "Further, small producers, whose annual production of crude in the preceding financial year is less than 2 million barrels will be exempt from this cess," it said, adding that the new cess will have no adverse impact on domestic fuel prices.

The decision will directly impact domestic refiners Jio-BP, Nayara Energy and ONGC which, in turn, could tighten their global oil product supplies.

Analysts believe the move to make export of fuel expensive is to ensure sufficient availability of petroleum products for domestic consumption but it may not achieve the desired result. "With product prices expected to remain elevated in the international market, we believe unless domestic retail prices are revised upwards, there still exists substantial incentive for the private players to export a larger share of their product, albeit at reduced margins," Crisil said.

NOW, I-T LENS ON PAWAR'S ELECTION AFFIDAVITS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

DAYS after the Maha Vikas Aghadi government collapsed in Maharashtra, the man who was instrumental in keeping it afloat, NCP patriarch Sharad Pawar, got what he called was a love letter from a Central enforcement agency.

The income tax department, he said, had issued him a notice in connection with his 2004, 2009, 2014 and 2019 Lok Sabha elections affidavits.

"I am surprised that Central agencies are sifting through old records and sending notices now. It shows how these agencies are working overtime to target political opponents. They want to suppress dissent. The same strategy was used against Shiv Sena MLAs, forcing them to revolt against their leadership," Pawar alleged.

He sarcastically said before the BJP came to power at the Centre, no one knew about the ED (Enforcement Directorate). "Now, ED has become a family name," Pawar said. It was the ED that got two NCP MLAs Nawab Malik and Anil Deshmukh arrested earlier on money laundering charges. Meanwhile, Sanjay Raut, a Thackeray faction leader, was questioned by the ED on Friday for over 10 hours in another money laundering case.

Curiously, Sharad Pawar's nephew Ajit Pawar hasn't commented yet on the fall of the Uddhav-led Aghadi government, in which he was deputy chief minister. Ajit is down with Covid but he attended the Aghadi's last cabinet meeting virtually.

More curiously, Dhananjay Munde, a close aide of Ajit, met the sulking new Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis on Thursday, setting off speculation. P10

Bommai, who chaired a meeting to discuss the problems of pourakarmikas on Friday, said that the proposed committee would submit its report within three months.

"Pourakarmikas deserve social dignity and security. The state government would respond to their woes with a humane approach. Their monthly remuneration has been hiked to ₹2,000", Bommai said.

Special recruitment rules would be framed to simplify pourakarmikas appointment.

Denied food, man kills wife

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A private firm employee killed his wife as she took some time to open the door when he returned home late at night and also because she allegedly went to sleep without serving him food. After killing her, the accused Ramu stuffed the body in a suitcase and dumped it in a quarry pit with the help of his friend.

The two carried the body of the victim Manjula, 35, on a two-wheeler from his house in Kamakshipalya to a pit near Dabaspet on the Bengaluru-Tumakuru highway before fleeing to Chennai. The police managed to identify the body during a search as the pit was close to her parents' residence near Honnenahalli.

The accused was caught after he returned to the city, went to a bar and switched on his mobile phone. Based on his tower location, he was nabbed.

Manjula was staying alone after her first husband Virupaksha deserted her and went to his native place Gangavathi in Koppal district with their two children. Manjula first met Ramu at her workplace in Peenya.

The couple used to have frequent arguments as she was allegedly not showing any interest in him. "On June 11, the accused returned home late after watching a movie. Manjula took some time to open the door and then went to sleep without cooking anything. Enraged by this, Ramu assaulted her on the head with a blunt weapon and strangled her to death with a veil," said an officer.

He then called his friend Basava Gowda, a native of Haveri. The next day at 3 pm, the two took the body on a bike and dumped it in the quarry pit. Gowda then left for his hometown.

On June 14, the police found the decomposed body inside the suitcase.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai will lay the foundation stone for the project on July 4.

The tunnel aquarium is expected to house more than 30 varieties of ornamental aqua animals and will have 60,000 litres of ocean water. "It will be 24 feet in length, 10 feet wide and 15 feet in height," said S Nandakumar, Managing Director of Namma Bengaluru Aqua Private Limited, which is a partner under the PPP model. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai pays floral tributes to a statue of Kempegowda

CM: City will be of global standards

'Previous govts ignored many devpt projects'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Friday said the government is determined to develop Bengaluru into a city of international standards with all the civic amenities. His government is committed to Bengaluru's comprehensive development, he added.

Speaking at an event to celebrate the 513th birth anniversary of Nadaprabhu Kempegowda and distribute scholarships to schoolchildren, he said problems being faced by citizens now are because of various development works not taken up by previous governments in the city.

He said the earlier governments ignored underground drain works, development of roads and Cauvery water supply works in many parts of the city. "It is a big challenge before us now, and we have accepted it. The works are going on at a rapid pace across the city. We will develop Bengaluru into a beautiful city in the coming days," Bommai said.

Tenders have been invited for the Peripheral Ring Road and works will start this year. Also, Metro work is being extended. Works on the Rs 6,000 crore Nagarothana projects have started. About Rs 1,600 crore has been allocated to construct storm water drains, he said.

The chief minister asserted that many beautification works have been taken up in the city and the emphasis is on improving the infrastructure.

Referring to traffic snarls in the state capital, Bommai said that measures are being taken to ease the traffic flow. Satellite towns will be developed to decongest Bengaluru and there will be no discrimination in the development of wards, he added.

BBMP: Keep your vacant site clean or face criminal action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) is all set to bring back its rule of penalising irresponsible site owners who do not keep their site clean as a result of which it turns into a dump yard. Palike Special Commissioner for Solid Waste Management Harish Kumar said criminal cases will be filed against such owners.

Speaking to media, the officer said that the rule exists but due to Covid-19 pandemic it was not being strictly implemented. With the number of garbage pileup cases increasing, the Palike will impose a penalty for the offence committed for the first two times and for the third time, a criminal case will be filed at the nearest police station. "For the first two times, only a penalty will be imposed and will be collected along with property tax. For the third time, a criminal case will be filed at the nearest police station", said the special commissioner.

The ward engineers on round are supposed to keep a watch on such properties and also take complaints from neighbours and residents in this regard.

D S Rajashekhar, Banaswadi resident and president of Bengaluru Praja Vedike welcomed the decision. He also pointed that if all garbage is collected at source and if there is no payment pending for pourakarmikas and contractors, the garbage coming to empty sites will reduce.

Srikanth Narasimhan from Bengaluru Navanirmana Party said, "I support imposition of penalty only on vacant plot owners who have not fenced their properties which leads to people dumping garbage there. However, it is unfair to penalise them if they have properly fenced their plot. BBMP should also install CCTV cameras in key locations", he added.

THE pourakarmikas would be provided housing loan facility, their children would be covered under the Vidya Nidhi scholarship scheme and women pourakarmikas would get maternity benefits, Bommai said.

However, the protesting pourakarmikas are insisting on a written assurance from the CM as a condition for calling off their strike.

P P Appanna, General Secretary AICCTU, Karnataka Chapter, who is supporting the agitation says the strike would continue. "The protest will continue. As long as nothing comes in black and white from the government, the protest will not be called off."

Hundreds of pourakarmikas staged a protest at Freedom Park in Bengaluru on Friday. Shivanna Mysuru, President, Karnataka State Nagara Palike, Grama Sabhas and Pattana Panchyat Pourakarmika Maha Sangha who is spearheading the protest said garbage loaders, cleaners, drivers and underground drainage workers working as contract labourers should be given permanent job status.

After 50 years, alumni IAF martyrs honoured by St Joseph's

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OVER fifty years later, two Indian Air Force (IAF) martyrs and former Josephites were honoured at St Joseph's Boys High School on Friday, with their names etched on the school's war memorial.

Flight Lieutenant Babul Guha, who was killed in action in 1965, and Flight Lieutenant Krishna Kumar Mohan, who was killed in action in 1971, were honoured in Bengaluru by family and comrades as alumni of the university. According to the school's alumni association, the Old Boys, who had organised the memorial, the two martyrs were only recently discovered to be alumni of the school.

KV Mohan

Babul Guha

Flight Lieutenant Guha, who had graduated from the 1952 batch of the school, had been KIA during the Indo-Pakistan War of 1965. Flying the Mystere IV fighter-bomber aircraft, he was tasked with attacking Pakistan's Sargodha base, alongside three others. His aircraft was shot down by a Sidewinder missile, after two of the four aircrafts in the formation had to turn back due to mechanical problems.

Flight Lieutenant Mohan had graduated from the 1959 batch of the school and had been KIA during the Indo-Pakistan War of 1971. He had been part of a close air support (CAS) mission at Nunkot and was outnumbered by enemy aircraft. According to research done by the the alumni association, it was likely that his aircraft, the Sukhoi Su-7, was hit by a missile.

"WE have sufficient space to develop it into a world-class tourist attraction," Nandakumar added.

The existing aquarium constructed in 1983 has not been renovated even once. It generates an annual revenue of Rs 12 lakh and there is a need to renovate it, said Fisheries Minister S Angara. According to the minister, work will be taken up without damaging the original structure.

According to sources, the ticket fare of the aquarium is likely to be fixed at Rs 80 for adults and Rs 25 for children which can be increased to Rs 100 and Rs 40 respectively during weekends. Ticket fare will be increased once every three years.

PETER VIDAL

02ND July: My last comment on time travel: if we could see the light from distant planets clearly, we would be able to see the people who lived in them thousands of years ago. And, if we could amplify sound, we might be able to hear what they were saying. Even if we couldn't talk back, this would be a kind of time travel!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Two regions of your chart are stimulated today, one dealing with lovers, the other with friends. What links the two is the thought that it is people who are older, or otherwise more experienced, who prove most attractive. Perhaps you're just impressed by their wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Only you know what you require in order to feel emotionally secure and eventually other people will come round to the idea that you must be allowed to do as you please. If you have any sense, you'll set out your personal demands sooner rather than later.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may look far a field for adventure and interest. If you're travelling today the end results could be very far-reaching, perhaps because the people you meet or the places you see will transform your life's ambitions. And don't let today's tension get to you.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
A continuing planetary emphasis on money, in all its forms, eclipses any other consideration in your chart. Sooner or later every question will come back to a matter of value, cost and material security. Even intimate relationships could run a ground when it comes to deciding who pays for what.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
One factor still holds supreme - your emotional and dramatic lunar aspects. If you're feeling sorry for yourself then you've picked up the wrong end of the stick, so get up, get on out there and play the game of life for all it's worth. It's simpler than it seems.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Don't shrink from taking on more responsib-ilities but, by the same token, if you are to fulfil all promises and obligations, you may have to shed a few marginal commitme-nts. It's all a matter of good organisation. A partner may cause confusion, but nothing you can't handle.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The only possible area of concern or commitment involves work so, if this doesn't apply to you, you may take this opportunity to indulge yourself in any and every enjoyable activity you can think of. And, if younger relations need help, make sure it's constructive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may feel that all is not quite right at home, but there are as many indications of helpful developments as of unhelpful ones. It's important to focus on formal arrangements and on those relationships which display a genuine degree of commitment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Any discussions will very easily become bogged down in details, excessive caution or cries of 'you'd never get away with it' or 'you couldn't afford it'. There may be a point to such objections, but you'll have to summon up your courage and take your own decisions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You could still be forced to deal with financial issues which may be too big for any one person, but a new and helpful factor is now introduced into the equation. You should therefore consider the ethical issues and assert your own unique and individual rights.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Serious developments should now be conferring certain benefits upon you. However, the first lesson you must learn is that change is not always easy, and that other people may not share your ambitions. That's something they'll have to come to terms with.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Spend as much time as you like by yourself, and if that means spending the day in bed, that's your business! Just for once other people will have to learn that you're not a soft touch - unless you want to be, that is! You can set the pace and call the shots.

Will fund hospital mgmt courses for docs: Sudhakar

To ensure better public healthcare system in a challenging era: Min

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE government will fund doctors to pursue hospital management courses to fill gaps in their managerial skills which will help them run public hospitals professionally, said Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar on the Doctors' Day, organised by the Bengaluru Medical College and Research Institute, on Friday.

"This is to ensure a better public healthcare delivery system in a challenging era where we are seeing a lot of new diseases," he said.

Though the government spends more on infrastructure at government healthcare institutions, which have 4,000 doctors more than a decade ago, private hospitals are managed better as they have personnel equipped with professional management skills, he said.

Government doctors are allowed to practice in their private clinics in the evenings, still some are found to be indulging in unethical practices. "This forced us to bring in biometric attendance at hospitals. It will soon be introduced in medical colleges too," he said.

"Some private hospitals claimed money under the ABArk scheme and also charged patients for Covid treatment. We will take action against them," he warned.

"Doctors must keep themselves updated, and also be well acquainted with the latest robotic surgery and other technologies," he said.

Dr K Sudhakar said that, the health department will host its Doctors' Day event on July 7 at banquet hall of Vidhana Soudha and would symbolically felicitate a few doctors for their contributions

Dr Sudhakar inaugurated online "hospital management course" started by Bengaluru's "Indian Institute of Management in association with Dr Devi Shetty". And he said 'hospital management skills' should be imparted in curriculum of MBBS and other medical degrees to train them to handle management roles in healthcare sector. He said this course is his dream come true and he recalled his discussion with IIM Director Rishikesha Krishnan and Dr Devi Shetty.

BBMP celebrated Doctors' Day by honoring Covid warriors. Covid Technical advisory committee chairperson Dr M K Sudarshan, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, Special commissioner health Dr Trilok Kumar were present.

Lawyers making baseless charges against judicial officers: HC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

JUSTICE B Veerappa, a senior judge of Karnataka High Court, on Friday urged the Advocates' Association of Bangalore (AAB) to take action against "misbehaviour" of advocates who make false and baseless allegations against judges during court proceedings.

He made the remarks while speaking as chief guest at a farewell programme organised for outgoing Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi, who is demitting office after attaining superannuation at the High Court.

Bringing the "misbehaviour" of advocates which he said he witnessed on Thursday and Friday, to the notice of AAB president Vivek Subba Reddy, who was present on the dais, Justice Veerappa said few advocates are making allegations that this or that judge is not correct during court proceedings. "With much pain I am telling this... If I were to commit anything wrong, tell me, I am prepared to stand in front of all members (Bar) in the middle of Vidhana Soudha and High Court and behead myself. That is the spirit with which I work as a judge", he said emotionally.

Continuing further, he said, "We are with you, but nobody is there to protect us. We are in a glasshouse. If you (Association) are not protected, we all judges unitedly fight like Lord Srikrishna, who spun 'Sudarshan Chakra' to protect Dharma".

Justice Veerappa also urged Reddy not to give any scope for injustice to anyone in the temple of justice. "We are bringing to your notice that we have already initiated contempt proceedings against the behaviour of such advocates", he said.

Responding to the judge, Reddy said he will convene a meeting of office bearers to discuss the alleged misconduct of advocates and take a decision. At the same time, he said that high court will have to use 'Sudarshan Chakra' to protect advocates from few judges of trial court who act indifferently towards advocates.

Need more teeth in anti-defection law, says Kharge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kalaburagi

LEADER of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge said that it was the systematic planning of the BJP that toppled the MVA government in Maharashtra as the BJP wants to oust opposition parties from ruling in any of the states.

Kharge told media persons that Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde split the Shiv Sena and dismantled the MVA government only to get the top job with the help of BJP. The MVA government was running smoothly, he observed.

To stop such anti-party activities and prevent destabilisation of governments, the Centre should give more teeth to the anti-defection law by amending it to disqualifying public representatives from contesting for the next 5 years for defection. The BJP was using all means to destabilise government including raids by the IT department and ED to compel MLAs to change sides.

Ex-MLA slammed for barb at Gowda's health

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Tumakuru/Bengaluru

FORMER Congress MLA KN Rajanna on Friday was slammed by the Congress and JDS leadership for his comments on the health condition of former PM HD Deve Gowda.

"Now Deve Gowda needs a pair of attendants to walk and in the near future he may need four," Rajanna said while addressing a gathering on the occasion of a farewell organised for a Gram Panchayat staff in Madhugiri taluk.

After the video went viral, Rajanna said it was edited to exclude the context about life, death and retirement which are inescapable. "If it had hurt the feelings of Deve Gowda's family, I'll personally visit him and apologise," he said.

But KPCC chief DK Shivakumar issued a statement in New Delhi, saying, "The statement about a worshipful leader like Deve Gowda who contributed to the state and the country is condemnable and inhuman. I have instructed Rajanna to tender his apology immediately." The Congress had backed him to become the PM and continues to respect him, he said.

Will teach him a lesson: HDK

Flaying Rajanna, ex-CM HD Kumaraswamy termed the remarks uncivilised. "I am still alive, and as HD Deve Gowda's son, I will teach Rajanna a lesson. He showed his ugly culture and he will get a befitting response," he charged. When he learned about Rajanna's statement, he recalled Deve Gowda gave Rajanna a political rebirth by campaiging despite his ill health. But Rajanna engineered his defeat in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls from Tumkur, he said.

The assistant commissioner, in his order on Friday, stated that Bhatkal being a sensitive place and vulnerable to communal issues, even a small incident could trigger clashes. Nijalingappa museum has to wait, plans ruined

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

PLANS to convert former chief minister late S Nijalingappa's house in Chitradurga into a museum have fallen through, despite preparations for months.

Though supporters and admirers of Nijalingappa had been demanding that the house be converted into a museum, the family had not agreed, saying the house is all that they have by way of inheritance.

After much convincing by former chief minister BS Yediyurappa and Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, the family finally agreed. But the family wanted to sell the house only to the government, and the district administration had been planning to finalise the purchase.

Nijgalingapp, one of Karnataka's much-admired chief ministers, started out as a freedom fighter, served as AICC president and was also, for some time, a critic of the then Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru within Congress.

While politicians of today accumulate wealth running into hundreds of crores, Nijalingappa left behind only the house in Chitradurga for his family members.

The house, according to the will, belongs to Nijalingappa's grandson S Vinay, who is based in the United States. Before arriving in India on a three-week vacation in June, he had informed the authorities that the formalities have to be completed before he returns on June 30.

Not surprisingly, the officials slept over the matter. On June 29, Vinay and his father and Nijalingappa's son Kiran Shankar, who incidentally is also the chief architect of Vikas Soudha, went to the sub-registrar's office to execute the sale.

But the sub-registrar maintained that some legal formalities had not been completed and the entire transaction fell through and the sale deed was not completed.

Vinay has now returned to the US and the conversion of the house into a museum will have to wait for another future date when Vinay arrives in India next, said a frustrated MLC Mohan Kondajji, who has been running around in circles trying to wake up the apathetic administration.

Siddu may contest from Saudatti

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

SOME top Congress leaders are eyeing Assembly segments where they have brighter prospects of winning in the 2023 Assembly polls. Including ex-CM Siddaramaiah and KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi, some Congress leaders may switch their constituencies, though they are capable of retaining their current seats.

Congress is hunting for a suitable candidate for the Saudatti constituency, where it lost the last poll because of a split in party votes while BJP's Anand Mamni has won the last three elections. Though the party has three locally-popular leaders aspiring for the ticket, Siddaramaiah's name is doing the rounds.

Discussions are being held within the party to get the CLP leader to contest from the seat instead of Badami, which he represents. But the party is also looking at Chamarajpet, Badami, Koppal or Kolar segments for him, but will take a final decision later, sources said.

Close associates of Jarkiholi want him to contest from Saudatti by leaving Yamakanmardi to his daughter Priyanka. Sources denied the speculation, asserting he will not switch from Yamakanmardi nor bring his daughter into politics so early. Instead, Jarkiholi may support Siddaramaiah's candidature if the party wants the latter to contest from Saudatti.

Jarkiholi, contesting the last Lok Sabha election from the Belagavi Parliamentary constituency, garnered a mammoth votes from the Saudatti Assembly segment. To avoid possible rebel activities in the 2023 Assembly polls, Congress is mulling fielding a popular leader like Siddaramaiah or Jarkiholi, sources said.

The AIADMK 'headquarters secretary' Edappadi K Palaniswami has claimed before the Supreme Court that "he has emerged as the most popular leader of the AIADMK after overwhelming majority of the party has comprehended the confidence in his leadership while O Panneerselvam has lost the trust and confidence of the party members."

BJP conclave in Hyd to take on TRS

Party aims to send message that it is keen to add Telangana to list of states it rules

VIVEK BHOOMI @ Hyderabad

MUCH has changed in the 18 years since the BJP held last held its national executive meeting in Hyderabad and the saffron party hopes to keep this momentum going.

At the last national executive meeting the party held in Hyderabad (at the Viceroy Hotel in 2004), the party had focused more on getting absolute majority at the Centre, and in these 18 years, it has gone from strength to strength, ruling 18 states as well as the Centre. With 18 Chief Ministers, Deputy Chief Ministers, all Union Ministers and the entire top brass of the party descending in Hyderabad, it is clear that the party wants to make an authoritative statement that it is keen to add Telangana to its ever-lengthening list of the states it rules.

With the TRS not yielding an inch, the saffron party may face an uphill battle, but that has not stopped it from dispatching its vistaraks across Telangana. These vistaraks have been told to hold booth-strengthening meetings in all 119 Assembly segments with the party's cadres on June 30 and July 1.

BJP national president J P Nadda being taken in a procession along with BJP state president and MP Bandi Sanjay and MP Dharmapuri Arvind on Friday | EXPRESS

Though State BJP leaders maintain that only national-level resolutions will be passed in the executive council meetings, the party's State in-charge had recently indicated that state-specific resolutions could be adopted.

"One weapon which will hit Congress and all other regional parties is the BJP's war on dynastic rule in the country. There will be discussions on the preparations for the upcoming elections in Gujarat and Himachal Pradesh. There will be some kind of activity related to south India, specifically Telangana," P Muralidhar Rao, BJP in-charge for Madhya Pradesh, told Express, adding that there will also be discussions on development-related and post-pandemic issues during the conclave.

BJP's national general secretaries held a meeting late on Friday to set the agenda for issues to be discussed in the conclave. The party's national office-bearers will be holding another meeting at 10 am on Saturday, to present the proposed resolutions to the national executive.

Meanwhile, BJP state president JP Nadda reached the city on Friday, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi would be arriving at around 3 pm at Begumpet Airport on Saturday to join the 347 delegates that are expected to attend the meetings.

The conclave will conclude with Modi's address at 4 pm on Sunday, after which he is expected to address a massive gathering of party workers at the Parade Ground in Secunderabad. BJP leaders say that they plan to mobilise 10 lakh people for the event, called 'Vijaya Sankalpa Sabha', that they hope will catapult the party to power in Telangana when the State goes to polls in 2023.

Telangana has been a sentiment for BJP ever since it was formed, as it elected one of the only two MPs in the 1984 General Elections.

"We know that it was the strength of our workers in Telangana that helped us grow from two to 303 seats in the Lok Sabha. We have enough work for all of you all to keep you occupied for the next 365 days. Work hard and we can form the government in Telangana," declared Raman Singh, former chief minister of Chhattisgarh, during an interaction with the booth-committee members.

The leopard cub that was sighted in the backwaters of Kabini

Leopard cub reunited with mother

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

IN a first, officials of the Karnataka Forest Department officials successfully reunited a one-and-a-half-year-old male leopard cub with its mother, without coming in contact with it.

The cub was found in a private land in the backwaters of Kabini in Nagarghole Tiger Reserve (NTR). Soon after it was sighted, the locals informed the forest staffers and the area was cordoned off.

NTR Director D Mahesh Kumar said the staffers, who rushed to the spot, were instructed to have the least human contact with the cub. The staffers wore gloves so that there was no human imprint on the surroundings. Makeshift barricades were put up around the site using vegetable crates to keep the cub safe from predators. Next a continuous watch was kept from a distance.

The cub was sighted on Tuesday and after a wait of a night, the mother came and picked up her cub by breaking through the barricades. Delighted forest staffers have now marked the area.

They said that such an effort has been done for the first time in two years. They added that this can now be replicated in other areas also, where leopard cubs are sighted and people's interference is high. This will also reduce the pressure on zoos to hand-raise abandoned leopard cubs and a healthy wildlife space will be created, with little or no man-animal conflict.

CM asks every one to plant at least 5 saplings

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavraj Bommai on Friday urged people to actively participate in afforestation drives being undertaken by various agencies by planting at least five saplings each and taking care of them.

Speaking on the sidelines of the inauguration of the Machohalli tree park, spread across 45 acres, the CM said Bengaluru is growing at an unimaginable pace and is witnessing rapid industrialisation. He instructed the Forest Department to chalk out special programmes to increase the green cover in and around Bengaluru through afforestation and development of more tree parks.

"The state budget has an exclusive ecological budget of Rs 100 crore for the first time. It will be used to offset the ecological deficit or loss that is happening. The Forest Department has been instructed to formulate an action plan to implement the plan to offset the ecological deficit on an annual basis," he said.

The government has simplified the rules and regulations for cultivating sandalwood trees and a special 'Beejotsava' programme was launched for afforestation in lands identified as forest lands.

Machohalli reserve forest is spread across 97 acres, of which 45 acres has been carved out for the tree park as part of Vision 2022 of the government.

Green push: K'taka to get EV portals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

ADDRESSING the issue of why people are still reluctant to switch from conventional fuel vehicles to electric vehicles (EVs), Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the cost of EVs should be made more affordable for the common man and only then their usage will increase.

Speaking at the launch of the week-long EV Abhiyan and Expo on Friday, the CM advised manufacturers to focus more on this aspect. He also stated that 189 EV charging stations were coming up in Bengaluru.

The initiative is being undertaken by the state government to promote renewable energy and reduce carbon emissions in the state. An EV Mitra App and Single Window Dash Board Facility, providing information about nearby charging stations, rates payment and even advance bookings for new charging vehicles, was also launched on the occasion. Public and private companies and NGOs will be able to apply for power supply through the App and can also get a single clearance window without any hassle for getting power supply for setting up new EV stations.

Energy Minister V Sunil Kumar has visioned Bengaluru to be the EV capital of the country and said Karnataka has the highest number of EV charging stations currently. He added that 1,008 charging stations will be established in two months across Karnataka.

Minister of State for New and Renewable Energy, Bhagwant Khuba, stressed upon the state government to provide infrastructure to companies interested in investing in green energy. Later in the day, he also inaugurated a green vehicle expo at the Bangalore International Exhibition Centre.

ROOT HUNT

Lost in a 17-year-old riot, man seeks to trace family

GEORGE POIKAYIL @Kasaragod

AFTER working for two years in Sharjah, Hashim T E, 23, is back home for a vacation. His umma Razia feels he should build a house and get married. But Hashim has never been more unsettled. He has to return to Sharjah in a month. But on his mind is plotting another journey to plug the hole in his life. Hashim wants to find his biological mother and sisters, says Razia, who found him as a six-year-old Hindi-speaking boy.

"Whenever he thinks of her, his hands start trembling and he shuts us out," says the homemaker. "We do not know how to help him."

Seventeen years ago, on November 1, 2005, Hashim got down from a bus at Moonam Mile near Ambalathara, 9km from Kanhangad. He had a note in Malayalam that read: 'He is an orphan. Please take him to the orphanage.' Near the stop is Parappally Valiyullahi Memorial Orphanage, run by Parappally Jama-ath Committee. But Hashim got down in front of Razia's eldest son Shajeer Palat, then 14. It was raining and Shajeer brought him home. "He wore black shirt and black jeans. I had never seen such a well-dressed boy here," says Razia. Hashim spoke only Hindi.

None could get any details out of him. Hashim says he cannot remember where he came from. "Someone put me on a train during a riot or disturbance. There was a mosque, a temple and railway tracks near my house," he says.

He says his biological mother's name is Marjeena, and his sisters are Hameeda and Huda. His father Yasin Mohammed died when he was younger. "Ours was a big two-storey house with two rooms on the first floor and two on the ground floor. There were lots of relatives," he says, adding that he told this all to his present family but they did not understand due to the language barrier.

So Razia's husband Abdul Karim Palat, an autorickshaw driver, and her brother Mohammed M took Hashim to Ambalathara police station the next day. The officer was dismissive and asked them to let him stay in their house.

Hashim when he was 6 years (L) and now

The two men brought Hashim home to their joint family and he became one of them. Razia says the boy could not recall his initials so they abbreviated Thekkil Ellam and named him Hashim T E. They took him to a studio and took a photograph, in case they needed to spread the word about him.

In two months, the neighbours started asking Razia to spare the boy for them. "They wanted to deploy him as a labourer. So, we decided to send him to the orphanage," she says.

The orphanage admitted him to the Government HSS in Ambalathara. Every afternoon, he would come home for lunch, and stay with Shajeer during vacation. While in school, he ran away three times to search for his mother, says Razia. He was in class 4, when he boarded a train and reached Mangaluru. We put a missing persons advertisement in newspapers with his photo and a person who he befriended on the train brought him back here," says Razia.

A couple of years ago, Razia's brother Mohammed, a PRO for a real estate company in Sharjah, took Hashim with him and found him a job.

"I was surprised to hear him speak fluent Hindi. He spoke in Malayalam in our house all these years, but had not forgotten his mother tongue," says Mohammed, who is also home for vacation. But Hashim says he wants to see his biological mother and sisters. "Whenever I lie down to sleep, I think of my mother. When I go to any dargah, I pray to God to help me meet her," he says. "I won't stay with them. I just want to see them," he says. Razia knows he is lying.

This school has 43 students, 3 teachers, one classroom

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

THREE teachers, 43 students, one classroom and no toilets! That's the state of a government primary school at Balmatta in Mangaluru.

Santhosh Bajal, secretary of Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) submitted a memorandum to Block Education Officer Sadananda Poonja on Friday urging him to look into matter.

"Most of the children hail from poor economic background and nine students have left the school citing poor infrastructure. Classes from standard one to seven are being held in a single room. There are only two permanent teachers and a guest teacher. There are no physical education teachers nor a separate room for mid-day meal preparation. The teachers do not have separate rooms and the children also cannot concentrate on studies. If our demands are not met, we will protest along with the parents of the children," he Sadananda said.

Meanwhile, BEO Poonja said the children will be shifted to an old college building on the campus and two toilets have been sanctioned. "The old college building has five classrooms. We have also made some alternative arrangements in a high school. The school headmistress has already written to the college principal in this regard. There is a shortage of one full-time teacher," he said.

SHINDE MADE CM TO SNATCH SENA FROM THE THACKERAYS

The BJP's decision to give up the chief minister's chair in Maharashtra despite having more than a hundred MLAs in the assembly is a masterstroke of only ace politicians like Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah. The BJP and the Shiv Sena, both driven by the Hindutva ideology, vied for the same vote bank in Maharashtra. The growth of the BJP in the state has been stymied for decades by the belligerent Sena which still controls the streets and a large chunk of the Hindutva votes. The BJP stayed in an alliance with the Sena as a junior partner. But the death of Sena's fiery patriarch Balasaheb Thackeray and the ascension of his mild-mannered, moderate son, Uddhav Thackeray, changed everything.

The BJP refused to play junior partner to the Sena and demanded the chief minister's chair after winning the last assembly election. Refusing to compromise, Uddhav dumped the decades-old ally to join hands with the Sena's ideological opponents and arch enemies—Congress and its splinter Nationalist Congress Party—to head a coalition government. Uddhav's ideological compromise did not go down well with the party's cadre. It bred disquiet within the ranks. The BJP was quick to read the situation and moved in for the kill. At the core of the BJP's coup is the 2024 Lok Sabha election. The BJP leadership did not want to fight a united Shiv Sena-Congress-NCP front in the next general election. The presence of a strong Shiv Sena against it would have blunted the BJP's Hindutva campaign and divided its core votes. The loss of Maharashtra would have depleted the NDA numbers. So, the BJP lost no time in exploiting the growing schism in the Sena and effected a clean split in the latter's legislature party.

The masterstroke, however, was making the rebel Sena group's leader, Eknath Shinde, the chief minister. It was aimed at offering the rebels the lure of office and power to encourage them to wrest control of the Sena cadres. The idea is to isolate the Thackeray family and make it impossible for it to rise again.

FUEL LEVIES TO BRIDLE WINDFALL PROFITS

Fuel taxes will come to the government's rescue yet again. If last year saw consumers bearing the burden of excise duty hikes, the tax axe fell on producers this time. On Friday, the Centre imposed new levies of ₹6 per litre on petrol and Air Turbine Fuel and ₹13 per litre on diesel exports by firms like Reliance Industries Ltd. Besides, it also introduced a windfall tax of ₹23,230 per tonne on crude oil produced locally by companies like ONGC and Vedanta, taking away a slice of their supernormal profits on account of high crude prices. The refiners reportedly processed Russian crude oil available at a discount and exported it to Europe and the US. As if this was not enough, some were even emptying domestic pumps to enable the exports, leading to fuel shortages in several states. An understandably browned-off government thus responded with a round of levies.

The decision follows similar moves by countries like the UK that are taxing the extraordinarily 'war-fueled profits' of energy firms. A windfall tax goes after excessive profits earned purely on account of external factors. They are despised by the industry and are seen as arbitrary, selective and unfair. For instance, the big tech got away with their pandemic riches even as companies like Apple and Amazon were awash with cash as lockdown-induced consumption shot up. The other argument is that if crude prices collapse, oil companies could as well queue up for a one-off subsidy.

While the debate is unsettled, the windfall tax alone will fetch the government ₹67,425 crore, offsetting fuel, food and fertiliser subsidies. The good news is, unlike the UK's one-year levy, ours is not time-bound, which means it could be rolled back when crude prices calm down. Also, to incentivise production, no cess is imposed on crude produced more than last year, but with earnings squeezed, producers' ability to raise production gets affected. Nearly 90% of the total crude oil processed is imported and despite efforts, domestic production has not kept up. The government should bear this in mind.

If one is reading it correctly, (Modi's) gaze has shifted to the rest of the political dynasties across India. The fiefdoms that survive and thrive in regional spaces

AFTER THACKERAYS, WILL IT BE OTHER REGIONAL CZARS?

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Across a spectrum of opinion there is consensus that what happened in Maharashtra was an enormous political upheaval. But that upheaval cannot be explained simply through the loss or gain of power by one section or another faction; one party or another; one coalition or an alternate. It cannot be circumscribed to the usual idioms and axioms of treachery, conspiracy, revenge, dance of Mammon and death of democracy. It appears that a more fundamental political change has been attempted by Narendra Modi and the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP).

For the longest period, the most sustained rhetoric on the lips of Modi and the entire Sangh Parivar has been about dynastic politics in the Indian context. The construction of an exclusive ideological family has been idolised, but the perpetuation of the blood line in politics has been harshly problematised. It is primarily the Congress that has been at the receiving end of this diatribe. Modi has not stopped short of desiring a 'Congress-mukt Bharat', which in essence has meant a Congress party minus the Nehru-Gandhi family. Although the liberal quarter has interpreted this as an attempt to annihilate opposition in the country, Modi has always given 'parivaar-vaad' a larger spin and has deftly equated it with democratic deficit.

This has gone on for a sufficiently long time, and it sharpened after 2019. The current state of the Congress party, the transfix it is in amidst a steep fall in its electoral fortunes, the legal mess that it finds its top leadership in, the rebellion within, and large-scale desertion, has created an impression that Modi has executed his plan to perfection. Even though the Congress has not helped itself, has not innovated despite successive defeats, has been lying supine for eight years, Modi seems to have cornered all the credit in the popular imagination for its existential crisis. It is now almost being presented as Modi's mission accomplished.

However, for Modi and the BJP the mission does not seem to have stopped with the Congress. If one is reading it correctly, his gaze has now shifted to the rest of the political dynasties across India. The fiefdoms that survive and thrive in regional spaces. The severe jolt delivered to the Thackeray name by not just snatching away power but also snatching away their organisation may be an indication of what is going to come across India. The Thackerays were after all one of the most feared and popular political dynasties and the unsettling of their empire has acquired a dynamic that has the potential to change the Indian political landscape. It turned out lucky for Modi that this time the destiny of the Thackerays was entwined with the Pawars. And sinking one has implied the sinking of the other too. The dynasty that Sharad Pawar has led so far has been the most resourceful and nimble-footed. But now, after the decimation of the coalition government in Maharashtra, the vulnerabilities of the Pawars have also been exposed. In fact, they have been snapped at the heels for some years now. This makes it three political families at one go—Thackerays, Pawars and of course the Nehru-Gandhis.

The installing of Eknath Shinde as Chief Minister of Maharashtra may be a shrewd political game to ensure the survival of a deceptively cobbled government, but no one can look away from the symbolism enshrined – he is being presented as the original man from the street, a former autorickshaw-man as chief minister presiding over one of India's richest states. This, while a tea-man governs the nation, and an 'unattached' saffron-clad oversees India's largest state. These can be viewed as structural changes that have been initiated to end patriarchies, dynasties, privilege and entitlement. Liberal commentators may speak in terms of constitutional subversion and upending of democratic convention, and cite the misuse of central agencies, but in the minds of common folk it will play out as a bold language of empowerment and the end of elite capture. For decades, they have anyway witnessed how political dynasties have operated with feudal impunity and through coteries. Emotional attachment to big political surnames that accrued electoral dividends ensured that the halo around them were kept intact, but that has been disrupted by Modi in the last eight years. If the Nehru-Gandhis have lost brand capital, then the rest of the smaller dynasties become fair game for the BJP.

> Logically, to consolidate 2024 for the BJP, regional czars may be Modi's next big project....It may also lead to default electoral reforms because regional parties will have to restructure themselves and innovate to survive

If one takes a quick glance, from Kashmir to Kanyakumari, the Indian political landscape is filled with dynastic parties – the Abdullahs, the Muftis, the Badals, the Rajes, the Yadavs, the Patnaiks, the Gogois, the Gowdas, the Raos, the Reddys, the Sorens and the Chautalas among others. They control significant vote shares in their respective states. Most of these parties are being presided over by ageing patriarchs with an anachronistic set of rules. In some cases, the succession may look convincing, but Modi's game has been highlighting their baggage and privilege at every bend. Not everything may move according to script in politics, but at least for now Modi carries the narrative strength against them. The dynastic parties too are getting increasingly restless against the BJP, and that is bound to invite a bulldozer-like reaction. Within the BJP itself, Modi has dismantled patriarchal figures like LK Advani with great tact.

Logically, to consolidate 2024 for the BJP, the regional czars may be Modi's next big project. It may not be a democracy project for him, but he will present it as one. It may also lead to default electoral reforms because regional parties will have to massively restructure themselves and innovate to survive. They may have to begin scouting for talent outside their parivars. Modi will make it extremely difficult for any of the patriarchs and their progeny to occupy the highchair, which was until yesterday unchallenged. He would probably like to remain the only surname, the only pesonality and the only phenomenon.

NEHRU'S AIDE WHO TURNED INTO ART DEALER IN USA

S VIJAY KUMAR

Co-founder, India Pride Project and author of The Idol Thief

An important aspect of the research into the illicit antiquities market is tracking art dealers and their sales. The vital role of these intermediaries is the least studied. They supplied idols to rich and famous patrons and also museums. Towards the end of their lifetimes, we often see their business not being carried on and the vast majority of their treasured collections end up as celebrated donations and gifts. We have written in our previous columns about how such gifts help circumvent the already slack collection guidelines.

The best-kept secret is that hardly a few of them are genuine gifts. There is always a quid pro quo—a compensating tax break dressed up by a friendly valuer overvaluing the 'gift' and as is the norm, we see patrons and museums showering rich praise on the scholarly pursuit of such dealers. But the same write-ups do offer us many vital clues and today we see one such article about art dealer Jaipaul and his collection in the Allentown Museum and other institutions in the US.

The headline of the report in The Morning Call, an American newspaper, calls him "a special collector" and the write-up says: "Born in 1927 in Quetta, Jaipaul gave up his last name as a boy, protesting the country's strict caste system. After India became independent from Britain in 1947, he served as PRO for the Congress Party and as a campaign aide to Jawaharlal Nehru ... After he earned a doctorate in political science from the University of Minnesota, the couple (Jaipaul and his wife) moved to Philadelphia, where he worked for universities and human-rights organisations. In 1979 Jaipaul turned a three-decade passion for collecting Indian art into a business. In his Philadelphia gallery, he sold furniture, brasses and other items made from the second to the 19th centuries, judging 20th-century Indian art as too Western, too commercial."What a wonderful man. The next sentence, however, is a red flag: "He (Jaipaul) dodged India's export restrictions by acquiring works from Europe and Asia." The article goes on to add that Jaipaul approached the Philadelphia Museum of Art, which chose 11 objects from him, and says that museum officials also "recommended two smaller institutions looking to jump-start small Indian collections."

Let us first look at a sculpture from the Philadelphia Museum's acquisitions, a 12th century CE Jaina Rishabanatha from western India. The lack of provenance information—except it being a gift of Jaipaul to the museum in 2000—is disturbing. Neither the Allentown Museum nor any of the other institutions that have bought or sold artefacts routed via Jaipaul's gallery have ever revealed even a single evidence in their provenance that shows legitimate removal from India. Take for example the Walter's Art Museum's Vamana (10th century CE). The museum's online portal lists the following provenance information: "Jaipaul Gallery, Philadelphia; purchased by John and Berthe Ford, Baltimore, June 13, 1976; given to Walters Art Museum, 2008." The provenance in the Association of Art Museum Directors (AAMD) site for the same sculpture adds: "Jaipaul Gallery, Philadelphia [date and mode of acquisition unknown]..." Why would Walters Museum edit out the crucial "date and mode of acquisition unknown"?

In another article in The Morning Call that again praises Jaipaul, there is the following: "Not surprisingly, the Jaipauls' home in Melrose Park, Montgomery County, became a museum. The living room contained a circa 900 A.D. granite sculpture of a sexy Parvati, the Hindu goddess of power who lived on a mountain with Shiva, the happy-looking lord of positive destruction. The garden featured a 14th-century white-marble sculpture of Adinath Rishabhanath. 'There was a piece,' says the couple's youngest daughter, Liza Jaipaul Gonzalez, 'literally everywhere you turned'." Sadly, we see many Hindu murthis from "Jaipaul galleries" still coming up in auctions, though all of them have dubious provenances.

(Above) Vamana sculpture (10th century CE) from UP/MP, now in Walters Art Museum, US; (R) Parvati bronze (15th century CE) from TN, auctioned by Bonhams in 2020. Both idols have passed through art dealer Jaipaul

For instance, a Vijayanagar-era Parvati was sold in 2020 by auction house Bonhams with no-pre 1970 provenance (Jaipaul Galleries, Philadelphia, the 1970s ... Sotheby's, New York, 19 March 2014, lot 45). The year 1970 is important because nations then signed the UNESCO Convention on the Means of Prohibiting and Preventing the Illicit Import, Export and Transfer of Ownership of Cultural Property. Even America's AAMD acquisition guideline says: "Members normally should not acquire a work unless research substantiates that the work was outside the country of probable modern discovery before 1970."

This of course does not give a free pass to idols stolen earlier as India has had an antiquities law since 1878; it's just that the sculpture sold by Jaipaul galleries does not even pass the 1970 test. If indeed Jaipaul sourced his collection outside of India, there should be provenance records showing acquired in art markets outside of our country. However, in every example that we have researched, there is not a single record showing provenance prior to the artefact arriving in his collection. As the provenance information has too many gaps, museums, collectors and auction houses would be advised to do proper due diligence for their existing and future collections to make sure there is paperwork showing legitimate export out of India.

For greater good

Apropos of Spirited effort for communal harmony (July 1). The efforts taken by IUML President Syed Sadiq Ali Shihab Thangal to spread peace is laudable. Other religious heads should follow suit. Scriptures and epics emphasise on tolerance and compassion. But extremists always provoke the public. TV debates should be blamed for choosing controversial topics in the name of upholding free speech. Visual media should self-regulate from now on.
K Jayanthi, Chennai

Nip hate before it spreads

It is heartening to note that Mr. Thangal has called a meeting of several religious leaders to discuss communal harmony. I think he should tell the madrasa heads in Kerala to review the subjects taught to children. Otherwise, children will spread hate and communal disharmony.

Impending quagmire

India's burgeoning oil imports from Russia are happening at the cost of long-standing suppliers like Iraq and Saudi Arabia. As Europe moves away from Russian oil and gas, they will tap into the Middle East and can become its preferred customers. This will make India permanently dependent on Russian oil. Tighter sanctions will thrust India into a political quagmire.

Political bomb

By announcing Eknath Shinde as the new CM, Devendra Fadnavis has burst one of the biggest political surprise bombs. Politics is the art of managing impossibilities and fooling the voter.

New protagonist

The power transfer in Maharashtra reminds me of an old Tamil saying: "Arasiyalil yithellaam saathaaranamappaa" (such things are not uncommon in politics). Uddhav joined hands with NCP and Congress, foregoing the Sena tenets in the process. That very instability has led to the present situation. This will happen again since there is only power-mongering.
Rajakumar Arulanandham, Tirunelveli

Maha plot twist

Contrary to expectations, Eknath Shinde suddenly took the baton. If BJP had no objection to a Shiv Sena member becoming CM, why did they deny Uddhav? However, it is also true that a government can have a firm footing only if a CM is from a party that is the largest in the Lok Sabha.

Modi, Putin discuss trade, energy and food markets

Russian President blames 'systemic mistakes' by some countries and 'illegitimate sanctions' on his country for the global crisis in food and energy sectors

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi spoke to Russia President Vladimir Putin on Friday. The two leaders discussed the state of global energy and food markets in the backdrop of the Ukraine crisis, apart from ways to enhance bilateral trade in sectors like agricultural goods, fertilisers and pharma products.

Modi also reiterated India's long-standing position on the situation in Ukraine and favoured dialogue and diplomacy to resolve it, according to a statement issued by the Prime Minister's Office (PMO). The two leaders also agreed to maintain regular consultations on global and bilateral issues, it added.

"The two leaders reviewed the implementation of the decisions taken during President Putin's visit to India in December 2021. In particular, they exchanged ideas on how bilateral trade in agricultural goods, fertilisers and pharma products could be encouraged further," the statement said.

The Kremlin said Modi and Putin discussed "topical" issues relating to bilateral relations, paying "special attention to the further development of mutually beneficial ties in the economic sphere". Putin stressed that Russia "has been and remains" a reliable supplier of grain, fertilisers and energy to India, among other nations.

The Kremlin statement said the two leaders also expressed mutual intention for strengthening of the special strategic partnership between Russia and India. On the global food crisis, the Kremlin said Putin "drew attention to the systemic mistakes made by a number of states, which led to the disruption of the entire architecture of the free trade of food products and provoked a significant increase of their cost". The "illegitimate sanctions" against Russia had exacerbated an already difficult situation and that the same factors had a negative impact on the global energy market, it added.

The Modi-Putin telephonic talks, the fourth this year, came days after the PM attended the G-7 summit in Germany. The two leaders held last spoken on March 7.

- India's top exports: Electrical machinery, Pharma, boilers, iron and steel, organic chemicals, fish, tea, coffee, spices
- India's top imports: crude oil, coal, soyabean oil & fertilizers
- India's crude oil imports from Russia have jumped over 50 times since April
- 10% of India's crude oil imports in from Russia
- 0.2% was Russia's share in India's oil import before the Ukraine conflict

Pushing for port link

On Wednesday, Putin had strongly pushed the International North South Transport Corridor (INSTC) as a key connectivity link between Russia and India via Iran while addressing the 6th Caspian Sea Summit held in Ashgabat.

The 7,200-km-long, "transport artery from St Petersburg to ports in Iran and India", as he described it, can transport goods between St Petersburg in Russia to ports in India in just 25 days, instead of 40 days.

A trial load (of two 40 feet containers of wood laminates) on the INSTC was dispatched earlier this month from St Petersburg and is expected to reach Nava Sheva terminal in Mumbai next week. It will take 25 days and reduce transportation costs by $2500 per 15 tonnes of cargo. "India considers INSTC as a viable alternative to China's Belt and Road Initiative. India's ability to have smooth access to Chabahar and its freight forwarding facilities is crucial to INSTC's viability," said sources.

Need for GST overhaul: Cong calls for all-party meet on taxation plan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AHEAD of the Monsoon Session, the Congress demanded a discussion in the Parliament and an all party meeting on GST, saying there is a need to completely overhaul the present GST, as taxation regime completes five years.

The Congress said that the GST laws and the manner of their implementation have wrecked the economy.

"The GST had serious birth defects. In the last five years these defects have only become worse and all those touched by GST have been seriously injured," said senior party leader P Chidambaram.

The party said that a flawed GST has led to large-scale destruction of MSMEs, a sector that contributes up to 90 per cent of the jobs in the manufacturing sector.

"The worst consequence of the GST brought in by the government has been a complete breakdown of trust between the Centre and states, he said. As far as the Congress Party is concerned, we reject the current GST and, as promised in the Election Manifesto of 2019, we will work toward the replacement of the current GST by GST 2.0 that will be single, low-rate," he said.

Calling for an all party meeting to fix the issues in the tax regime, senior party leader Jairam Ramesh said there is need to completely overhaul it and the party will demand a discussion in upcoming monsoon session.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi took to twitter to say that the BJP has turned the Congress' 'Genuine Simple Tax' into a 'Gabbar Singh Tax', making the GST a "nightmare" for doing business in India.

Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh also demanded that there is a need for review of the GST applicable on medium, small and micro enterprises (MSMEs).

DEMANDS OF STATES

- Many states have been pushing for extension of compensation mechanism for revenue lost from the implementation of GST regime for another five years after the deadline ended June 30
- As an alternative, some states want the share of States in the GST revenues increased from current 50% to 70-80%
- Several states have flagged the issue of pending GST compensation dues and asked them to be settled at the earliest
- New items on GST list: Prepackaged and pre-labelled retail pack of curd, paneer, honey, lassi, butter milk, fish & meat, certain vegetables, barley, oats, maize, millets, cornflour and jiggery

COVID PANDEMIC

WHO urges Southeast Asia to scale up vaccination drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AS Covid-19 cases are seeing a spike in India and other Southeast Asian countries, the World Health Organisation (WHO) on Friday called on them to accelerate Covid-19 vaccination coverage. The world health body also acknowledged India's impressive efforts and its support to other countries in providing Covid vaccines when there was a constraint globally.

The WHO said India would soon mark two billion doses, accounting for nearly two-thirds of all vaccine doses administered in the region. It said that while significant progress has been made in the region towards vaccinating populations against Covid-19, several countries missed the global target to fully vaccinate 70 percent of their total population with all primary vaccine doses by June end. That's why various regions are witnessing a surge in cases. "We know that the current Covid-19 vaccines provide high levels of protection against severe disease and death for all variants. We must focus on rapidly achieving high vaccination coverage, prioritising health workers, older adults, those with underlying health conditions, and pregnant women," Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh, Regional Director, WHO (South-East Asia), said.

The pandemic is not over yet; we must scale up our efforts to protect communities, she said.

She congratulated countries that have achieved the target of 70 per cent of their population completing the primary series of Covid-19 vaccination.

Vaccine protects people of all body weights: Lancet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Covid-19 vaccines protect people of all body weights from hospitalisation and death, according to a study published in the journal, The Lancet Diabetes and Endocrinology, on Friday. The study of 90 lakh adults in England said that the vaccine effectiveness was similar for those with a higher body mass index (BMI) and a healthy weight but slightly lower in the underweight group, who were also the least likely to have been vaccinated.

"Our findings provide further evidence that Covid-19 vaccines save lives for people of all sizes," the study said, putting to rest the fear that obesity was a significant risk factor for severe Covid-19 early in the pandemic

"Our results provide reassurance to people with obesity that Covid-19 vaccines are equally as effective for them as for people with a lower BMI, and that vaccination substantially reduces their risk of severe illness if they are infected with Covid-19," said the lead author Carmen Piernas from the University of Oxford, UK.

In its analysis of the vaccinated cohort, they found increased risks of severe Covid-19 outcomes for people with underweight or obesity compared with the vaccinated population with a healthy weight.

These results suggest the need for targeted efforts to increase uptake in people with low BMI in whom uptake is lower and vaccine effectiveness seems to be reduced.

The study, however, said that strategies to achieve and maintain a healthy weight should be prioritised.

DIDI PLAYS BOTH SIDES, GOES SOFT ON MURMU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

WEST Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Friday seems to have gone soft on the NDA's presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu, saying had the BJP discussed her candidature, her party could have agreed to support her.

Referring to recent changes in Maharashtra's politics, Mamata said Droupadi had a better chance to win now. She, however, said her party would stand by the decision taken by the Opposition parties.

The Opposition parties nominated former Union minister Yashwant Sinha, who joined the TMC in 2021 and was elevated as the party's national vice-president in the hierarchy.

Mamata's change of tack on the issue of BJP's President candidate is said to be her apprehension that the saffron camp's tribal card in the presidential election may cause a dent in her West Bengal tribal vote-bank which her party managed to secure in its favour in the last year's Assembly elections.

"Droupadi Murmu has better chance to win following the changes in Mahashtra's politics. Had the BJP informed us about the candidature of a tribal woman, all the Opposition parties could have sat together and discussed about it. We could have come to a consensus. But BJP wanted to know our suggestions only. They did not reveal their suggestion," said Mamata during a Rath Yatra event in Kolkata.

SAD announces support to NDA's Prez candidate

CHANDIGARH: Former Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) ally Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) on Friday decided to support NDA's presidential nominee Droupadi Murmu. The SAD had exited NDA 21 months ago in protest against the three central farm laws.

After a lengthy core committee meeting of the SAD, the party president, Sukhbir Singh Badal, said, "While we have our reservations with the BJP over key issues like removing a sense of insecurity from the minds of minorities, especially the Sikhs, the SAD is basically inspired and guided by the ideals placed before humanity by the great Guru Sahiban. These ideals are supporting the cause of the poor and the down-trodden... Droupadi Murmu also belongs to the very downtrodden class of the society." ENS

Centre set to monetise economic benefits of Ganga River Basin

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

IN the seemingly first such move, the Centre has started the process to assess the economic value of the Ganga basin to different sectors like agricultural, domestic, industrial, hydropower, tourism, navigation, health and public safety and is looking at monetising the economic benefits.

The National Mission for Clean Ganga (NMCG) under Union Jal Shakti ministry has called for conducting 'Water Balance Studies for Ganga River Basin' for assigning economic value to environmental flow, which could act as trade-off between allocation of water to commercial use and environmental flow.

According to NMCG, the idea that the economic values can be monetised and estimates established for environmental services like biodiversity and fisheries. The ministry has called for hiring a global consultant to carry the work. The ministry's plan is to have in place a "water accounting dynamic tool" to update the water balance for Ganga River Basin in order to optimize the economic and environmental outcomes from the available water consumed. "An assessment of the gains derived from cascading and coordinate management of water storage in reservoirs, and recommendation of protocols and systems to ensure that these are operated more efficiently leading to higher economic productivity of available water and improved environmental flow," the Ganga mission noted.

This comes as the Modi-led government in June 2014 launched the 'Namami Gange' a flagship programme with budget outlay of ₹20,000 crore to accomplish the twin objectives of effective abatement of pollution, conservation and rejuvenation of the holy river.

Global consultant to carry the work

New safety standards for tyres from October

NEW DELHI: From October, new tyres meant for passenger cars, trucks and buses will have to meet the defined standards for rolling resistance, wet grip and rolling sound emissions. The ministry of road transport and highways has issued a notification, which mandates the requirement of rolling resistance, wet grip and rolling sound emissions — a move aimed at ensuring quality and reliability of tyres. Rolling resistance of a tyre has an impact on a vehicle's fuel efficiency. The wet grip capability influences braking performance of tyres under wet conditions and boost vehicular safety, while the rolling sound emission relates to the sound emitted from the contact between tyres and the road surface. ENS

Rescue operations underway for second day at Tupul railway construction camp at Noney district in Manipur on Friday | EXPRESS

Landslide: 12 more bodies found, 44 feared trapped

Among those missing are railway staffers, labourers and villagers

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

AMID ongoing search and rescue operations, bodies of 12 more persons were retrieved from the landslide-hit railway construction site at Tupul in Manipur's Noney district on Friday.

"Mortal remains of eight more Territorial Army personnel and four civilians were recovered during the search on July 1," the Army said in a statement.

Eighteen others, including 13 personnel, were rescued and hospitalised on Thursday. Some of them are grievously injured. Official sources said an estimated 82 people were at the site when the tragedy struck in the wee hours of Thursday. The Army said the search for the remaining 44 people – 15 personnel and 29 civilians – would continue.

The civilians missing are railway employees, construction labourers and villagers. The Territorial Army personnel were deployed for the protection of the under-construction railway line between Jiribam and Imphal.

Chief Minister N Biren Singh, who visited the site for the second consecutive day, monitored the search and rescue operation being undertaken by multiple agencies, such as Army, Assam Rifles, Territorial Army, National Disaster Response Force and State Disaster Response Force. Several excavators and sniffer dogs are being used in the operation.

The CM said tonnes of slippery mud that piled up at the site has made the rescue operation difficult. He added that the operation would be continued for the next two to three days.

"Heavy machinery along with 'Through Wall Imaging Radar' have been deployed to expedite the operation," Singh said. The 'Through Wall Imaging Radar' is a sensor used for detection and location of static and moving targets, especially human beings behind walls.

The debris, which had blocked the flow of Ijai river, has been cleared partially, and the flow of water has resumed.

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma also asked his ministerial colleague Pijush Hazarika to visit Manipur. According to Sarma, one person from Assam lost his life, while five are undergoing treatment and 16 are missing.

Uddhav questions BJP's 2019 move, says 'Shinde not Sainik'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

AFTER stepping down as the chief minister of Maharashtra, Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray on Friday said that Eknath Shinde is not the CM from Shiv Sena.

Thackeray made the comment during a visit to the Shiv Sena Bhavan, where he questioned the move that the BJP made in 2019. "I am really surprised and I have one question: If BJP was really interested in making a Shiv Sainik as the chief minister of Maharashtra, then why did they not agree to it in 2019?," he said. "We asked Amit Shah to honour the power-sharing formula that was agreed upon, but they refused to do so, resulting in the birth of Maha Vikas Aghadi. If they had agreed to this earlier, today, there would have been BJP's chief minister in the state," Thackeray said.

The former CM reiterated that Eknath Shinde is not a Sainik. Lamenting that the rebel Shiv Sena MLAs and BJP betrayed and backstabbed him for power, Thackeray said, "The anger against me should not be used against Mumbaikars by developing a metro car shed at Aarey colony. These are green places that need to be protected." He blamed the BJP for chopping several trees earlier, and added that they later planted many trees to bring in ecological balance. "We have also seen wild animals coming back. I am pained with the new government's decision of allowing the metro car shed to come up," Thackeray said. He added that the state government should resolve the Kanjurmarg metro project issue as well, now that BJP is in power in the state and the Centre.

Thackeray also said that people should have the right to recall their MLAs and MP if they go against the voters' wishes. "The rebel MLAs were first taken to Gujarat, then to Guwahati and finally to Goa. Democracy is on sale in the market," Thackeray said.

BJP hopes to make Sena a toothless tiger

Mumbai: Having brought down the Uddhav Thackeray government, BJP is now aiming to reduce Shiv Sena to a toothless tiger. The party hopes to achieve this before the BMC elections. The BJP already has a majority of Sena MLAs — 39 out of 55 — in its control. It is now eyeing to recognise the Eknath Shinde-led group as the real Shiv Sena. It seems to have started working on the plan as Shinde has asked the MLAs who are on Uddhav's side to be with the majority faction or else face disqualification proceedings for 'anti-party activities'.

SC to hear plea for suspension of rebel MLAs on July 11

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear on July 11 the plea of Shiv Sena chief whip Sunil Prabhu seeking suspension from Assembly of Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and 15 rebel MLAs against whom disqualification pleas are pending.

A vacation bench comprising Justices Surya Kant and J B Pardiwala was urged by senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Prabhu, that the interim plea needed an urgent hearing due to the pendency of disqualification proceedings against 16 lawmakers including the chief minister.

"The problem that faces us is as to how the votes have to be counted as there is no merger under 10th Schedule of the Constitution," Sibal said. "Both sides (of Shiv Sena) are going to issue a whip. How we are going to control the proceedings of the House. Whose whip is going to be counted? He (Shinde) is not the party and that can only be decided by the Election Commission. Ex-facie, this is not the dance of democracy," Sibal stated.

Uranium mining may start soon in Sikar

The mining of Uranium deposits, which were discovered in the Khandela area of Sikar district 27 years ago, will begin now as a Letter of Intent of mining lease has been issued to the Uranium Corporation of India. This mining will start in 1086.46 hectares in the state. With 12 million tonne of uranium and associated mineral deposits, Rajasthan ranks third on the list of uranium reserves in the country. About ` 3,000 crores will be invested for this mining process by the Corporation, providing direct and indirect employment to about 3,000 people. According to Mines Minister Pramod Jain Bhaya, after Jharkhand and Andhra Pradesh, Rajasthan will be the third state in India to have uranium mining.

25 bypasses to come up on national highways

Rajasthan will soon get 25 new bypasses that will be built on different national highways in the state at a cost of about ` 5,000 crore. The development will increase the convenience of transportation and ease pressure on cities. Union Road and Transport Minister Nitin Gadkari announced this recently while laying the foundation stone of nine National Highway projects of 243 km length in the state for ` 1,357 crore. Gadkari said Rajasthan is the biggest state in the country in terms of area and also from the point of view of national security. Hence a special effort is being made to connect all the 33 districts of Rajasthan with national highways.

Kanpur police set up special team to probe Dawat-e-Islami

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE Kanpur police on Friday constituted a six-member team to look into the presence and activities of Dawat-e-Islami, the Pakistan-based organisation with which the links of one of the two Udaipur assailants have emerged.

According to Joint Commissioner of Kanpur Police, Anand Prakash Tewari, the team would look into the activities of the outfit which is said to have come up in Kanpur in 1989 after the visit of a delegation of Ulemas from Pakistan. The outfit has over 50,000 followers in Kanpur. Dawat-E-Islami had earlier come under the police radar during the anti-CAA stir.

"A six-member special team has been constituted for looking into the deeds of Dawat-e-Islami," Tewari said. "The team is being headed by a senior IPS official. The details of the people and institutions associated with the organisation are being collected."

According to police sources, the Rajasthan Police had got some clues about a few members of the organisation having set up its sleeping modules in Kanpur. However, those members had no criminal history and no mention in police records but they were the radicalised elements mobilised by the outfit for jihad.

Raj DG flags activities

The investigation team has been formed after Rajasthan Director General of Police, M L Lather, said that Dawat-E-Islami is also active in Kanpur.

The six-member team has started gathering all the information about the membership, activities and the office of the organisation based at Deputy Padav crossing near Gurbat-Ullah Park. The police sources added that the probe team had also collected vital inputs about four madrasas associated with the organization, of which one is in Kanpur while the other three are in Unnao. "Of those present in Unnao, two madrasas are operational while one is under construction. The team carried out an investigation into all the places on Thursday and Friday," a senior police official said.

Today, we are witnessing the 145th edition of the annual Rath Yatra in Ahmedabad. During the Congress rule, people used to live in fear that something untoward would happen during the Yatra.

CONGRESS COULDN'T EVEN PROTECT JAGANNATH YATRA IN GUJARAT: SHAH

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday reminded Gujarati voters that the Congress-led Gujarat governments in the past had thrice banned the annual Lord Jagannath Rathyatra and it showed that they were incapable of protecting the people of the state.

He was addressing a gathering at Goddess Vardaini temple at Rupal village in Gandhinagar district after launching a host of projects, including the beautification of lakes in Rupal and Vasan villages of Gandhinagar district. Notably, the Central government had recently selected the temple of Goddess Vardaini under its PRASAD (Pilgrimage Rejuvenation and Spiritual Augmentation Drive) Scheme. Shah said that curfews during the Rath Yatra are a thing of the past as no one dares to play any mischief during Rath Yatra since the BJP came to power nearly 27 years ago.

"Today, we are witnessing the 145th edition of the annual Rath Yatra (in Ahmedabad). During the Congress rule (before 1995), people used to live in fear that something untoward would happen during the Rath Yatra. Their fear was legitimate because riots had happened during the Rath Yatra with miscreants even trying to snatch away the chariots on two occasions," he said.

"But things changed after the people of Gujarat gave the reins to the BJP instead of Congress. Now, nobody even dares to play any mischief during the Rath Yatra. When I was young, I had witnessed how Congress had banned taking out the processions thrice as if they were admitting that they were not capable enough to protect Lord Jagannath," said Shah.

He added that Rath Yatra is now taken out with full cooperation of the BJP government in the state.

Guv seeks list of cases withdrawn against leaders

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

WEST Bengal governor Jagdeep Dhankhar has sought detailed information on the criminal cases which the state government has withdrawn against MPs and MLAs since May 1, 2021 when the TMC came to power for its third straight term. He has asked Chief Secretary H. K. Dwivedi to submit the report by July 11.

Sources say the communication has some connection with the alleged post-poll violence in the state being probed by CBI. A team of the National Human Rights Commission had visited Bengal following complaints of post-poll violence last year. The Calcutta HChad then ordered a CBI probe.

AAP fulfils poll promise, Punjab residents to get 300 units free power each month

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

KEEPING its poll promise, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government in Punjab announced free supply of 300 units of power each month, starting Friday, to every family in the state. An amount of ₹1,800 crore was reserved for this purpose in the budget proposal this year.

Announcing the decision, Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann on Friday said, "While all other governments took five full years to keep their poll promises, our government had fulfilled its major guarantee within three months of coming to power. Every family across Punjab will get 300 units of free power each month."

The move will benefit 73.39 lakh consumers. Over 60 lakh consumers are estimated to consume up to 300 units of power a month.

Mann added that arrears of all electricity bills pending till Dec. 31, 2021, of all households have been waived.

AAP's national convener and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Friday tweeted to praise the Mann government's decision. "We have fulfilled our promise. The Aam Aadmi Party does what it says. People of Punjab will get rid of expensive electricity," Kejriwal posted.

According to sources, the final blueprint of the scheme is yet to be cleared by the state Cabinet, which is expected to meet soon. A meeting of the Board of Punjab State Power Corporation was held on Friday to finalise the details.

The earlier schemes announced by the previous governments, wherein all domestic consumers having load of up to 1 kw, and the SC, BC and BPL consumers, got 200 units of free power, will be subsumed in the new scheme.

The total power subsidy bill of the state government this year is expected to rise to ₹15,846 crore. The state government also has to pay a power subsidy of ₹7,117 crore from the previous years, which was not paid by the previous government. Thus the state will have to pay ₹22,962 crore this year as subsidy which translates to 24 per cent of the state's total revenue receipts of ₹95,378 crore for this year.

Days after sacking of 112 docs, 16 more get notices

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

TEN days after sacking 112 doctors for remaining absent without permission, the government is planning to show the door to 16 more doctors. The J&K Health and Medical Education Department has issued separate final show cause notices to these medical practitioners for their absence from duties.

Earlier, most of the doctors had neither replied to the previous notice nor reported back on duty.

"Their continuous unauthorised absence from official duties for such a long period of time clearly indicates that they are non-serious towards their official duties and not interested in the government job," reads the order.

The 16 doctors have been asked to reply to the notices within 15 days failing which disciplinary proceedings will be taken against them.

Acting tough against the doctors for unauthorised leave for years, the administration on June 20 terminated the services of 112 doctors.

The Lt Governor administration in J&K has gone tough against its work force, and over three dozen employees have been suspended so far for alleged anti-national activities. Some other workers have been suspended for unauthorised absence from duties or alleged involvement in corruption cases.

Javed's house demolished due to misuse: UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN a counter-affidavit filed in compliance of the Allahabad High Court, in response to a petition filed by the wife and daughter of Javed Mohammad, the key accused of June 10 protests in Prayagraj, the state government has said Javed's nameplate was affixed on the building gate that was demolished by authorities. Hence, it showed that he was the occupant of the house from where the office of 'Welfare Party of India' was being run in a residential area. The state government added that the demolition was undertaken after residents of the area complained over "illegal construction" and its "misuse".

Russia begins grain shipment from Ukraine

Kyiv accused it of stealing its produce and stalling exports at ports, thus contributing to a global food shortage

MOSCOW

RUSSIA began shipping grain from Ukraine's occupied territory, with a vessel carrying 7,000 tonnes of cereal sailing from Ukraine's occupied port of Berdyansk.

Kyiv has for weeks accused Russia and its allies of stealing its grain from southern Ukraine, contributing to a global food shortage caused by grain exports blocked in Ukrainian ports. Until now shipments have been transported by land, Kyiv says.

Thursday's grain shipment from the port of Berdyansk marks the opening of a sea route to export wheat from Ukraine to third countries.

"After numerous months of delay, the first merchant ship has left the Berdyansk commercial port, 7,000 tonnes of grain are heading toward friendly countries," Evgeny Balitsky, the head of the pro-Russia administration, said on Telegram. Russia's Black Sea ships "are ensuring the security" of the journey, he said, adding that the Ukrainian port had been demined.

Balitsky did not specify the final destination of the cargo.

Berdyansk is a port city on the northern coast of the Sea of Azov, in the region of Zaporizhzhia in southeastern Ukraine. The southern Ukrainian regions of Kherson and Zaporizhzhia have been largely under Russia's control since the first weeks of Moscow's military intervention, and are now being forcefully integrated into Russia's economy.

File photo of a Russian soldier guarding a pier with grain storage at Mariupol Port

The pro-Moscow officials in the two Ukrainian regions claim that they have "nationalised" state infrastructure and property there and buy their crops from local farmers.

A representative of the pro-Moscow authorities, Vladimir Rogov, told state news agency RIA Novosti that 1.5 million tonnes of grain can be exported via Berdyansk. Moscow's military intervention in Ukraine has pushed up food prices and led to shortages, as Russia's blockade of Black Sea ports prevents millions of tonnes of grain from being shipped out. The crisis has sparked fears of famine in vulnerable countries highly reliant on Ukrainian exports. Earlier, Russia said it had pulled its forces from Ukraine's Snake Island, calling it a "goodwill gesture" to allow Kyiv to export agricultural products.

Russia, the largest wheat exporter in the world, has said it is facing difficulties in exporting its own grain due to unprecedented Western sanctions over its intervention in Ukraine. AFP

Ecuador govt and Indigenous leaders sign deal to end protests

Thousands of Indigenous protesters left the Ecuadoran capital of Quito after their leaders and the government signed a deal that would cut fuel prices and end their cost-of-living demonstrations

WHAT IS THE AGREEMENT?

The agreement, mediated by the Catholic Church, provides for a five-cent-per-gallon reduction in the price of diesel and gasoline on top of a 10-cent cut already conceded by the government

Signed by Conaie leader Iza and government minister Francisco Jimenez, the agreement foresees further negotiations between the two sides, an end to the disruptive roadblocks erected countrywide, and the lifting of a state of emergency in four of Ecuador's 24 provinces

It also provides for a review of government decrees on oil exploitation and mining in Indigenous lands

REASON BEHIND PROTEST

Fast-rising fuel prices were the catalyst for the protests called by the powerful Confederation of Indigenous Nationalities (Conaie) and marked by burning roadblocks and sometimes violent clashes with the security forces

The protesters called for fuel price cuts, jobs, food price controls and more public spending on healthcare and education

HOW THE PROTEST CREATED HAVOC

Five civilians and a soldier died since the protests started on June 13, hundreds were injured on both sides, and some 150 people were arrested

The protests caused losses of some $50 million per day to the economy, according to the government, which has warned oil production— already halved— could come to a complete halt soon

Crude is the South American country's main export, but production was halved from the pre-protest rate of some 520,000 barrels per day, the government said

Pak hikes petroleum rates to toe IMF line

ISLAMABAD

THE Pakistan government has steeply hiked petroleum prices to implement the tough preconditions set by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to revive the stalled $6 billion bailout package for the cash-strapped country.

Prices of all petroleum products went up by about Rs 14-19 per litre after the decision came into effect from midnight on Thursday.

According to a notification issued by the finance ministry, the government imposed a Rs 10 per litre petroleum levy on petrol and Rs 5 each on high-speed diesel, kerosene and light diesel oil. As a result, the per-litre price of petrol has been increased by Rs 14.85, HSD by Rs 13.23, kerosene by Rs 18.83 and LDO by Rs 18.68.

The ex-depot price of petrol now stands at Rs 248.74 per litre, HSD at Rs 276.54, kerosene at Rs 230.26, and LDO at Rs 226.15.

Finance Minister Miftah Ismail told the media that the petroleum levy was imposed to revive the IMF programme suspended four months ago after the previous government led by Imran Khan reneged from signed agreements.

This is the fourth hike in petroleum under the incumbent government which took power in April. The IMF Fund also asked Pakistan to set up an anti-corruption task force. After implementing the conditions, the IMF would present Pakistan's request for the approval of the loan tranche and revival of the programme to its executive board, a process that may consume another month.

On June 22, Pakistan secured a deal with the IMF to restore the stalled $6 billion assistance package and unlock doors for financing from other international sources. PTI

Singapore to conduct another execution for drug trafficking: activists

A Malaysian drug trafficker is due to be hanged in Singapore next week, campaigners said Friday, two months after the execution of a mentally disabled man in the city-state sparked outrage. Kalwant Singh, who was convicted in 2016 of trafficking heroin into the city-state, is scheduled to be executed on Thursday, Singapore-based activists and advocacy group Anti-Death Penalty Asia Network said. Kirsten Han, a Singaporean rights activist, said Singh's family members informed her of the impending hanging. "It's horrifying how the Singapore state doubles down on hanging people for drug offences time and again, even as research fails to present conclusive evidence that the death penalty actually works the way the Singapore government claims it does," Han told AFP

Thousands rally in Sudan after 9 killed during protests

CAIRO

THOUSANDS took to the streets Friday in Sudan's capital, a day after nine people were killed in demonstrations against the country's ruling generals.

The United States and others in the international community condemned the violence in this East African nation, which has been rocked by near-weekly protests since an October 25 coup upended its fragile transition to democracy.

The rallies on Thursday were the largest seen in months. Sudanese military authorities have met the protests with a deadly crackdown, which has so far killed 113 people, including 18 children.

In and near Khartoum, large funeral marches took place for some of those killed the day before, while others gathered after Friday prayers at mosques in the country's capital. Online, photographs of the dead were posted, in some cases in an effort to identify them.

The Sudan's Doctors Committee, a medical group that monitors casualties from demonstrations, said security forces shot and killed nine people, including a child, in or near Khartoum during the rallies on Thursday. The demonstrations coincided with widespread internet disruptions. Internet monitors and activists say the government has crippled communications to prevent gatherings and slow the spread of news on days when large protest turnout is expected. Since the coup, the UN political mission in Sudan have been trying to broker a way out of the political impasse. AP

Ally booze scandal gives Boris fresh headache

LONDON

BRITISH Prime Minister Boris Johnson, still under the shadow of the partygate scandal at the height of the Covid outbreak in Downing Street, has been hit with yet another drunken scandal as an ally in charge of discipline within the governing party resigned.

Chris Pincher, 52, stepped down as the Deputy Chief Whip of the Conservative Party on Thursday night after admitting in his resignation letter that he drank far too much and embarrassed myself and other people. There have been growing calls for Johnson to suspend him from the party after allegations emerged of him groping two men at a private members' club in London.

"Last night I drank far too much," reads Pincher's resignation letter. "I think the right thing to do in the circumstances is for me to resign as deputy chief whip. I owe it to you and the people I've caused upset to, to do this," he said.

'The Sun' newspaper first reported the resignation, saying the senior Conservative MP was drinking at the Carlton Club in central London when he is said to have assaulted two other male guests. Several concerned Tory MPs contacted the Conservative whips' office to complain about his behaviour, the paper claimed.

Opposition Labour MP Yvette Cooper called for his suspension whilst the "really serious" allegations are formally investigated. "This is about sexual assault," she said.

"'This latest episode shows how far standards in public life have been degraded on Boris Johnson's watch. The Conservative Party is so mired in sleaze and scandal that it is totally unable to tackle the challenges facing the British people," added Labour's deputy leader Angela Rayner.

As Deputy Chief Whip, he was responsible for the Tory party discipline and ensuring the smooth running of government business. It now marks the second time that Pincher has quit as government whip.

In late 2017, he resigned as a junior whip after a complaint that he made an unwanted pass at former Olympic rower and Conservative Party candidate Alex Story. But then Prime Minister Theresa May brought him back as Deputy Chief Whip in 2018. In July 2019, Johnson moved Pincher to the Foreign Office as a junior minister before his return to the whip's office again. The Opposition demanded answers on why Pincher was put into the position yet again. PTI

Xi defends vision of Hong Kong on 25th anniversary

HONG KONG

CHINA'S leader Xi Jinping marked the 25th anniversary of Hong Kong's return with a speech that emphasised Beijing's control over the former British colony under its vision of "one country, two systems"—countering criticism that the political and civic freedoms promised for the next quarter-century have been largely erased under Chinese rule.

Xi praised the city for overcoming "violent social unrest"—a reference to massive pro-democracy protests in 2019 that were followed by a Beijing-driven crackdown that has snuffed out dissent and shut down independent media, aligning Hong Kong more closely with stricter controls under China's ruling Communist Party.

The shift shocked many in the city of 7.4 million people that Britain returned to China in 1997, after running it as a colony for more than a century. As part of the agreement, China agreed to allow Hong Kong to have its own government and legal system for 50 years. In the ensuing years, Hong Kong activists pushed back against Chinese efforts to curtail freedoms and even made demands for fully democratic elections, drawing out hundreds of thousands of people for marches in the streets. AP

Albanese, Macron open a new chapter

PARIS

AUSTRALIA and France opened a 'new chapter' in their relations Friday as the new Australian prime minister seeks to heal wounds from a secret submarine contract that infuriated France.

President Emmanuel Macron warmly shook hands with Australian Prime Minister Anthony Albanese outside the French presidential palace, showing a thumbs-up before putting his arm around the Australian leader's back as they headed inside for talks.

"Trust, respect and honesty matters," Albanese told reporters. 'This is how I will approach my relations' with France.

Paris responded with fury when the previous Australian government announced in September that it was cancelling a $62 billion contract for French-made diesel-electric submarines. Instead, Australia had struck a deal with the United States and Britain to provide submarines powered with US nuclear technology, which French leaders said was sealed behind their backs.

France temporarily withdrew its ambassadors from the US and Australia, and Macron accused former Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison of lying to him, which Morrison denied.

After coming to power in May elections, Albanese's Labor Party government announced it had agreed to pay France's Naval Group a $583 million settlement for breaking the contract.

"We are opening up a new chapter in our relationship," Albanese said Friday. AP

Sitharaman justifies levies on fuel exports

Cess will have no adverse impact whatsoever on domestic petroleum products/fuel prices, says finance minister

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

AFTER the government imposed windfall tax on oil producers and cess on the export of petrol, diesel and ATF, Finance Minister Niramala Sitharaman said as India is highly dependent on other countries for its energy needs, it was important for the Centre to take such steps to discourage exports.

Calling the current situation as "extraordinary", she said the domestic refiners and exploration companies are not supplying wholesale consumers for the domestic needs.

"They are exporting it at phenomenal profits. These are extraordinary times and we need oil for domestic activities also, so it was important to take such steps," Sitharaman told reporters. India buys oil from different sources and the government is trying to see where it can procure it in a cost-effective way. "We are also making sure the excise duty is cut down so that the burden on citizens is not there. But with all this being done, if oil is not being available and they are being exported at such phenomenal profits... Good for those earning profits, but these are extraordinary times and we need some of the oil for our own citizens," she stated.

Govt imposes cess on petrol, diesel, ATF exports

Govt imposed a cess of ₹6 per litre on petrol and ATF exports and ₹13 per litre on diesel export. Also a cess of ₹23,250 per tonne has been imposed on crude

Meanwhile, she also added that the government will review the cess and price of oil every 15 days. The statement comes after the Centre imposed cess of ₹6 per litre on petrol and ATF exports and ₹13 per litre on the export of diesel. Also a cess of ₹23,250 per tonne (by way of special additional excise duty-SAED) has been imposed on crude. "Crude is sold by domestic producers at global parity price. This cess will have no adverse impact, whatsoever, on domestic petroleum products/fuel prices. Further, small producers, whose annual production of crude in the preceding financial year is less than 2 million barrels will be exempt from this cess," the Centre said. Also, to incentivise an additional production over preceding year, there will be no cess on such quantity of crude that is produced in excess of last year production, it added.

On the revenue impact, the Finance Minister said she could not immediately give a figure.

INDONESIA

INDONESIA CENTRAL BANK IN NO RUSH TO HIKE RATES

Indonesia's central bank is in no rush to hike interest rates, its governor said on Friday, even as June consumer prices rose at the fastest pace in 5 years, topping forecasts and breaching its target range amid a surge in food prices. June's annual inflation rose to 4.35%, the highest since June 2017 and above the 4.17% forecast in a Reuters poll. Last month's figure was 3.55%. Bank Indonesia's (BI) target range is 2-4%. However, the annual core inflation rate, which strips out government-controlled and volatile prices, was below market expectations at 2.63% in June. The poll had forecast a 2.72% rate, while May's rate was 2.58%. BI Governor Perry Warjiyo said the data set showed low core inflation and low inflation of government controlled prices, due to large subsidies keeping some energy prices unchanged. "Core inflation is relatively low, so it provides room for flexibility for us to not be in a rush to raise interest rates," he told a parliamentary hearing, repeating a pledge to keep interest rates at record low until BI sees signs of fundamental price pressures.

JAPAN

JAPAN INC DISAGREES WITH BOJ'S VIEW ON INFLATION

Japanese firms expect inflation to stay around the central bank's 2% target for years to come, a survey showed on Friday, disagreeing with Bank of Japan Governor Haruhiko Kuroda's view that the recent cost-driven price rise will prove temporary. The BOJ's "tankan" quarterly survey showed firms expect inflation to hit 2.4% this year, up from 1.8% projected in the previous poll. They see inflation at 2.0% 3 years from now, up from March forecast of 1.6%. Corporate inflation expectations 5 years ahead stood at 1.9%, the June tankan showed, up from 1.6% in the March survey. It showed firms expect inflationary pressure to persist and keep price growth around the BOJ's target. The poll on inflation outlook, which usually draws little attention as analysts focus more on the tankan's business sentiment indices, came as a surprise to analysts. It marks a change in Japan's inflation expectations, which is among key factors the BOJ scrutinises in determining whether its price target can be achieved.

SOUTH KOREA

SLOWEST EXPORT GROWTH ADDS TO RECESSION FEARS

South Korea's June exports grew at their slowest pace in over 1-1/2 years as soaring inflation saps offshore demand for Korean goods, widening the trade gap and fuelling concerns about a global recession. Shipment data out of Korea provides an early health check on global trade activity as manufacturers of chips to cars in Asia's fourth-largest economy import massive amounts of raw materials and straddle a wide swathe of the world supply chain. Exports rose 5.4% from a year earlier to $57.73 billion, trade ministry data showed on Friday, beating the forecast for 3.8% growth in a Reuters poll but registering the slowest gain since November 2020. Imports jumped by a much faster 19.4% to $60.20 billion as soaring energy prices raised the cost of imports, contributing to a trade deficit of $2.47 billion, the biggest since January this year. "We are most likely to see some continuation of trade deficit for the time being as commodity prices surge," said Chun Kyu-yeon, an economist at Hana Financial Investment.

RIL, ONGC, OIL bleed post windfall, export levies

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

SHARES of ONGC, Oil India , Reliance Industries (RIL) and Vedanta tumbled 4-15% following the government's decision to slap a windfall tax on crude and an export tax on petrol, diesel and aviation turbine fuel (ATF).

Huge bearish bets have been built up in ONGC, which closed down 13.5% at ₹131.05, and RIL, the chief petroleum products exporter , down 7.2% at Rs 2408.75.

The range for RIL is ₹2,300-2,500 while immediate range for ONGC is ₹130-140. A break below the support ₹130 could result in another ₹10 correction.

Cash and delivery volumes spurted on the two counters. Traded volume on RIL stood at 3.78 crore on July 1 against the three month average of 83.71 lakh shares. Delivery volume was 1.6 crore shares against the 3-month average of 41.9 lakh shares.

Similarly, in ONGC traded volume was 12.57 crore shares (3 M average 2.6 crore) and delivery volume 2.87 crore (95.48 lakh).

The other crude producer OIL slumped 15% to ₹213.85 while Vedanta slipped 4% to ₹213.95.

The export tax will also apply to Export-oriented units (EoUs) and special economic zone (SEZs), the government confirmed.

Import duty increase to dent gold demand

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

IN a move to ease the pressure on the rupee and the current account deficit, the government increased the import duty on gold to 15% from 10.75%, inclusive of cess. The move could slow demand for the yellow metal, which figures among India's top 3 imports, including crude oil and electronic goods.

"This (duty hike) has come like a bolt from the blue," said Rajesh Mehta, executive chairman, Rajesh Exports. "It's sure to impact demand amid runaway inflation, which anyway will curb non discretionary consumer spending."

The reason for the hike in duty was to rein in the current account deficit , thereby reducing pressure on the rupee , which breached the 79 to the dollar mark on Thursday .

The immediate effect of the duty hike was a 1.8% intraday rise in the spot rate to ₹51,584 per 10 gm (ex GST) for 99.5% purity, as per Indian Bullion & Jewellers AssocIation (IBJA). Apart from duty , the GST levy on gold is 3%, taking the overall tax on the metal to 18%, the highest seen so far.

Suvankar Sen, MD & CEO, Senco Gold and Diamonds, expects jewellers to pass on the full extent of the hike in the next "month and a half or so ." "Anyway high inflation and slack season have tempered demand," he added.

Demand is expected to pick up from September with the onset of the festive season, with monsoon typically slowing demand due to the sowing season.

Aside of demand , trade veterans like Rajesh Exports' Mehta expressed concerns of a rise in "illegal trade," given a hike in the duty .

However, some tradesmen like Kumar Jain of UT Zaveri, in Mumbai's famous Zaveri Bazaar, expect consumers to take the hike in their stride as gold buying sustains amid price rise and changes in duty.

GST collection for June at ₹1.44L cr, up 56% YoY

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

GST collection for June exceeded ₹1.40 lakh crore mark, 56% more than the revenue garnered in the same month of the last fiscal, the finance ministry said in a statement.

This is the fourth straight month when the revenue collection has crossed ₹1.4 lakh crore. As per the ministry, economic recovery, anti-evasion activities, especially action against fake billers, have been contributing to the enhanced GST. The gross cess collection in June is the highest since the introduction of GST.

"May and June are not great months for high GST collection. Within the five years GST is showing what it is... ₹1.4 trillion is the rough bottom line now for GST collection," Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said while inaugurating GST Day celebrations in the capital. Of the total ₹1.44 lakh crore, CGST was ₹25,306 crore, SGST was ₹32,406 crore, IGST was ₹75,887 crore (including ₹40,102 crore collected on import of goods) and cess was ₹11,018 crore (including ₹1,197 crore collected on import of goods). During the month, revenues from th import of goods was 55% higher and the revenues from domestic transaction (including import of services) are 56% higher than the revenues from these sources during the same month last year.

"The collection in June 2022 is not only the second highest but also has broken the trend of being low collection month as observed in the past. Number of e-way bills generated in May 2022 was 7.3 crore, which is 2% less than 7.4 crore e-way bills generated in April 2022," the ministry said. Among all the states, Maharashtra registered the highest revenue at ₹22,341 crore, followed by Gujarat at ₹9,207 crore and Tamil Nadu at ₹8,027 crore, as per the release.

Govt keeps vouchers, gift, loyalty cards out of crypto tax ambit

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) has excluded gift cards, vouchers, mileage points, reward points and loyalty cards from the definition of virtual digital assets (VDA) such as cryptocurrencies and non-fungible tokens(NFTs).

This means, tax applicable on VDAs will not be applicable for these products. "Mileage points, reward points or loyalty card, being a record given without direct monetary consideration under an award, reward, benefit, loyalty, incentive, rebate or promotional program that may be used or redeemed only to obtain goods or services or a discount on goods or services," CBDT said. Apart from these, subscriptions to websites or platforms or applications will also be excluded from VDAs. "The Central government specifies NFTs as virtual digital assets which shall not include a token whose transfer results in transfer of ownership of underlying tangible asset which is legally enforceable," said Amit Maheshwari, Tax Partner, AKM Global, a tax and consulting firm.

TDS on VDAs come into effect from July 1

From July 1, 1% tax deducted at source (TDS) on VDA transactions have come into effect. Crypto exchanges say that they are complying with the directive. Crypto trading platform WazirX said processes are in place to collect TDS for relevant transactions

Meanwhile, from July 1, 1% Tax deducted at source (TDS) on VDA transactions have come into effect. Crypto exchanges have said that they are complying with the new directive on 1% TDS. Crypto trading platform WazirX said processes are in place to collect TDS for relevant transactions. The TDS collected needs to be paid to the Income Tax Department in INR. For this, any TDS collected in the form of crypto has to be converted to Indian rupee.

Rajagopal Menon, Vice President at WazirX said, "For ease of conversion and to reduce price slippage, in crypto to crypto transactions, the TDS for both sides would be deducted in the quote (or primary) crypto asset." WazirX markets have 4 quote assets- INR, USDT, BTC, and WRX. Many crypto platforms have been saying that 1% TDS on transactions would be highly detrimental to the crypto industry. "The government too will be at a loss as they will lose out on the possibility to earn massive tax revenue due to overall decreased transaction volumes on crypto platforms," said Amajot Malhotra, country head, Bitay.

K'taka labour dept calls Infosys for joint meeting

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka labour department has issued notice to Infosys and the IT employees union NITES (Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate) to hold a joint meeting on July 4 over the non-compete clause added by the IT company in its employment agreements.

It all started in April when NITES appealed to the labour ministry against Infosys seeking removal of the non-compete clause from offer letters. As per the contract, it bans employees from working for the same customer in rival firms - TCS, IBM, Cognizant, Accenture and Wipro for six months after the termination of their employment. Soon after the appeal, the Ministry of Labour and Employment had issued a notice to Infosys for joint discussion regarding non-compete agreement. Earlier, Infosys had replied saying "...the clause under discussion is fairly common and standard business practice in contracts, in the IT services sector in India." Last month, the chief labour commissioner had sent letters to labour commissioners of Haryana, Maharashtra and Karnataka and said for further action, the matter needs to be forwarded to state governments. Following this, Karnataka labour department on June 21 called both Infosys and the IT union to appear in person for a joint meeting on July 4.

HYUNDAI RECLAIMS SECOND SPOT IN PV MARKET IN JUNE

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

KOREAN carmaker Hyundai Motor (HMIL) has reclaimed its second spot in the domestic passenger vehicle (PV) market as it outsold Tata Motors by nearly 4,000 units last month. In June 2022, Hyundai's domestic PV sales stood at 49,001 units as against Tata Motors 45,197 units.

In the past seven months, Tata Motors has outsold Hyundai twice in monthly sales as the race between the two automakers has intensified for the second spot. In May 2022, Hyundai had sold 42,293 units while Tata Motors had sold 43,341 units to become the second largest car seller for the month.

Global semiconductor shortage that appears to impact Maruti Suzuki and Hyundai more than other OEMs and Tata's aggressive product launches in the last few years has helped the home-grown automaker to outpace industry's growth by a noticeable margin.

Shailesh Chandra, Managing Director, Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles Ltd said that demand for PVs continued to stay strong in Q1 FY23 even as the supply side remained moderately impacted due to the lockdown in China. HMIL Director (Sales, Marketing and Service) Tarun Garg, said that with the semiconductor situation showing signs of easing out, the sales numbers have again started showing a positive trend. Garg added that the newly launched Hyundai Venue has also received good customer response.

MARUTI REMAINS IN SLOW LANE (2022)

APRIL: 121,995 UNITS
MAY: 124,474 UNITS
JUNE: 122,685 UNITS

Going forward, competition between Tata and Hyundai is expected to remain intense as the two automakers have plans to ramp up production and widen their electric vehicle portfolio.

Overall, PV sales in June 2022 remain subdued or flat when compared with May 2022 sales as most manufacturers are still unable to produce vehicles in required quantity due to the unavailability of crucial electronic components.

Owing to this reason, country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) sold 122,685 units in June 2022, down from 124,280 units in June 2021 and 124,474 units in May 2022. MSIL was probably the only carmaker which registered Year-on-Year decline in sales. Recently, the carmaker had informed that it has a booking backlog of 3.15 lakh units.

BPCL amalgamates Bharat Oman Refineries with itself

New Delhi: State-owned Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL) on Friday announced amalgamation of its subsidiary refinery Bharat Oman Refineries Limited (BORL), in Bina, Madhya Pradesh, with itself. BPCL expects the amalgamation will benefit both companies. While BPCL and its group companies have a significant presence in the upstream, refining, and downstream value chain of oil and gas industry, BORL provides product security and logistics advantage in Northern and Central India, through a network of pipelines. Following the deal, Bina Refinery will have unrestricted access to BPCL's marketing network to evacuate its products. Several renewable energy projects, 1.2 MMTPA Ethylene Cracker Unit and petrochemical infrastructure have been envisaged for the large land parcel available with Bina refinery. These projects being cost intensive will get quicker financial closure, after the amalgamation, it said. ENS

De Beers sees double-digit growth this festive season; bets big on middle-class

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ Mumbai

DE BEERS FOREVERMARK is expecting around at least 10-12% double-digit growth this festive season and plans to open 16 new exclusive boutique stores by the end of the year 2022 taking the total count to 30.

Sachin Jain, managing director of De Beers India in a conversation with TNIE at the company's annual forum in Mumbai, said the outlook is very optimistic and the company is betting big on the middle class, which he says will grow majorly in the next 7-8 years. On the question of what price bracket they are betting on with regards to the middle class, Jain said, on average, it would be between ₹50,000- ₹1,00000.

De Beers Group, the world's leading diamond company, held its three-day annual Forum this week.

Suggesting that as a brand, the company is not just for high-income groups, Jain says, "Forevermark starts at eight points or 0.08 carat and a 0.08 diamond would be about ₹5,000-₹6,000. So we are also offering very humble prices and a middle class consumer can easily consume it. It's not prohibitive." The company is also heavily focusing on sustainability. David Prager, Chief Brand officer at De Beers Group also mentioned at the forum that according to a survey of 8,000 people across countries conducted by the group, consumers are predisposed to buy diamond jewellery that may have a positive impact. "In fact, consumers are willing to pay a premium of 15% for diamond jewellery that focuses on sustainability." Adding to it, Jain mentioned that 46% of consumers are focussed on source transparency.

Rishabh makes England pant

Wicketkeeper-batter's century helps India recover after early struggle on Day 1

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

THE timing wasn't off. And it was the first word Ravi Shastri uttered on air at Edgbaston on Friday. Having spent the last English summer from the Indian dressing room, Shastri had just slipped into the Sky Sports commentary box, when Shubman Gill, who had looked the part so far in his brief stay, needlessly poked a James Anderson delivery that was almost on the seventh stump.

This was the sort of shot, the Indian openers – Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul – had avoided last summer. Having scored four boundaries, it was perhaps a touch of over-confidence that made Gill play a delivery, he should have shouldered arms all day, on overcast conditions. And Shastri summed it up with what was a word that was entangled right-through his stint as head coach. "The intent was missing," he would call on air, referring to what was missing from Gill's shot selection there. As India explored the option of moving away from Cheteshwar Pujara and Ajinkya Rahane at the end of the last World Test Championship cycle, two of the three players they had narrowed down were Gill and Shreyas Iyer. The two, with Rishabh Pant in the mix – who rescued India on Day 1 with a typically characteristic 146 off just 111 balls (19x4, 4x6) – were the ones India looked to compliment Virat Kohli, Rohit and Rahul. In an era where pitches had become more bowler friendly, teams would do anything to get batters who play flamboyant brand of cricket, to bail them out of trouble. And thanks to injury and Covid issues, India had a chance to field all three such batters in this Test. Incidentally, they were the ones who showed the intent that was needed, especially when the English attack led by ageless Anderson had their tails up under overcast conditions.

After Gill's dismissal, Pujara's return lasted all of 46 balls as Anderson found his edge, which settled in the cordon. Vihari was done in by the late seam movement Matthew Potts. And soon Kohli, too, perished, trying to withdraw the ball late – indecisiveness caused by the late movement from Potts – only to inside edge it back to the stumps. While Iyer's stay was brief, he had three boundaries in 15 balls. At 98/5, India were in dire straits. But, Pant had other ideas. For a batter who gets castigated for playing too many shots including high-risk ones, he showed what he could do, if he was allowed to be dared. With Ravindra Jadeja, who too scored a fifty, for company, Pant scored fifth Test century, bailing India out of trouble.

Neeraj in pursuit of perfection after personal best in Stockholm

INDRANEEL DAS @Chennai

FIRST throws are turning out to be diamonds for Neeraj Chopra. Perfection is what he is aiming for whenever he throws that spear in a competition. "Everything has to be perfect for the throw to reach the 90-m mark," is what Neeraj keeps saying.

For the Tokyo 2020 Olympic champion, that perfect throw, where everything is in sync and the spear leaves the hand in a swoosh and attains that perfect elevation before turning towards the ground, was achieved, almost, on Thursday at the Diamond League in Stockholm. Chopra knew the javelin would travel quite a distance and even touch 90m the moment he released it. For an athlete who is making a comeback after 10 months, there is no trace of rustiness due to lack of competition.

After the 24-year-old's trademark tumble and release, as he stood and watched the javelin pierce through the evening sky, he knew it would be another great throw. It landed on the 90m-mark line, .06m off the target at 89.94m. His personal best this season, bettering his earlier throw of 89.30m. A positive sign before the World Championships and the Commonwealth Games. Like in the Paavo Nurmi Games in Turku last month, this too was his first throw. However, despite being confident of breaching that magical 90m-mark in his subsequent throws, he could manage 84.37m, 87.46m, 84.77m, 86.67m and 86.84m. Yet, he sounded satisfied with his effort. "First throw had a good feeling and I am happy to have achieved the new mark," he said. "And thought 90m was achievable." He was overtaken by defending world champion Anderson Peters from Granada, who once again threw 90m+ with a monstrous 90.31m in the third attempt. Despite not winning, Neeraj was happy with his performance. "All my throws were good," he said through voice notes. "Achieving a bigger mark later is not easy as the body also tires after putting in a lot of effort in the previous throws."

As for 90m, Neeraj felt it is achievable this year. "It is about getting that perfect throw," he said. "Everything needs to be perfect. The javelin should go in one line and the technique should be perfect." As things stand, apart from the fall in extreme conditions in the Kuortane Games, Neeraj had had an incredible run. The Olympic champion and his team -- coach Klaus Bartonietz and physio Ishaan Marwaha -- will now turn their attention to the all-important World Championships in Oregon starting from July 15. Javelin throw qualification is on July 21 and final is on July 23.

For Neeraj, the next target would be performing well at the Worlds but dismissed that there is any kind of pressure on them. Yes, Oregon is in his mind, but the outcome of his throw would depend on how he throws on that particular day. "Every day is different and I will know if there is pressure because of being an Olympic champion on the day," he said. "I usually don't take too much pressure. I play with an open mind. I train hard and give my 100 per cent. Even in Worlds I will give my best."

Deepti guides India home

GOMESH S @Chennai

AS India were put into the field in the first ODI at Pallekele by Sri Lanka, they had three specialist bowlers, three all-rounders and five batters, which included two extra bowling options. And it did not take long to see the spinners in action. As Deepti Sharma provided the second breakthrough in the seventh over, it was spinners dominating from both ends as Harmanpreet used as many as eight bowling options (six spinners). Sri Lanka were bundled out for 171 in 48.2 overs. Then came the long-standing issue with Indian batting. With runs superseding roles in selection, India's top six, barring Harmanpreet, bat at the top-order for their respective domestic teams. As India slumped to 130/5, Deepti (22 n.o), among the few with ample international experience of playing different roles for India over the years, took the team home. Brief scores: Sri Lanka 171 all out in 48.2 ovs (Nilakshi 43, Deepti 3/25, Renuka 3/29) lost to India 176/6 in 38 ovs (Harmanpreet 44, Shafali 35; Ranaweera 4/39).

After Rome, wrestlers to miss Madrid event

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

AFTER skipping the Rome Ranking Series last month to complete visa formalities for the 2022 Commonwealth Games, the Indian wrestlers will miss another international event in Spain as the process is yet to be completed. The tournament, Grand Prix of Spain, is slated from July 8 to 10 in Madrid and the wrestlers were planning it as part of their build-up to the Birmingham Games. "The wrestlers will not compete in Spain as the visa process is still going on. Usually, they are called together but this time they are given appointments in batches, which is prolonging the process. The next two days (Saturday and Sunday) are holidays so it's not possible to field the team in Spain now," a Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) official said.

Visa issue may also delay ace wrestler Bajrang Punia's departure to the USA for a training stint at Michigan University ahead of the CWG. He is also supposed to be joined by Tokyo Olympian Deepak Punia and the two wrestlers are scheduled to train at the venue till July 30. The WFI are now hoping wrestlers could compete at the Zouhaier Sghaier Ranking Series scheduled from July 14 to 17 in Tunis, Tunisia. "If the formalities are completed in time then the wrestlers can compete in Tunisia. We are also planning an exposure trip for them after the event," added the official.

Injury scare for Vinesh

Woman wrestler Vinesh Phogat on Friday morning sustained a chin injury during the practice bout at SAI centre in Lucknow. The women wrestlers are camping at the centre. Her sparring partner Bhavika Patel also sustained an injury on the forehead. The duo has been advised to rest for 10 days.

SPINNING SOME GOOD OL' TIMES

From The Beatles to Billie Eilish – vinyl records are getting their fan base back in the form of collectors and vintage enthusiasts

People experimenting with vinyl records at the newly-opened Record Room. | SARTAJ TANWEER

DURING a recent shopping haul at an antique shop, Nihal Raman, a student from Harvard University who is visiting the city, hit a jackpot with quirky vinyl records. He picked up records of Diljalaa (1987) and Suhaag (1979). It might look odd for a 21-year-old to pick records of classic cult movies, but Raman was also fascinated by the covers of the records.

Raman, whose parents gave him a record player for his 15th birthday, has been into them ever since. "I enjoy going to record stores to look for good bargains. I find good music that I wouldn't have listened to otherwise. A friend bought a 100-year-old record player and used to find records for 50 cents and a dollar," says Raman, adding that the outer covers of records make for good home decor.

There are many like Raman, which is why the craze for vinyl records has skyrocketed. Balaji, owner of Balaji's Antiques and Collectibles, situated on Avenue Road, confirms this. He has more than 10,000 records in languages like Tamil, Telugu, Kannada, English, Bengali and Malayalam. "While regional languages have a niche crowd, the younger lot come for rock, and pop," says Balaji.

The prices of the records are between ₹450 and ₹10,000. The Beatles' records cost ₹2,500, but their 78 RPM records are some of the most expensive ones. They are not only first pressed but also pressed in India. Beatles 78 RPM was played in India till the '70s, while it was discontinued in the West. The records have now become collectables," explains Balaji. Though he welcomes customers leisurely browsing through the collection, he doesn't encourage listening to them at the store for extended periods.

So, if you are yet to experience the euphoria of music through records, then the Record Room on Magrath Road could be an option. The vinyl bar has a collection of 250 records and a record player, where people can play their favourites. Karthik Chandrasekaran, co-founder, recalls the first time he experienced vinyl records was around 15 years ago. "I found the vinyl of Pink Floyd's Dark Side of the Moon that I used to listen to on cassettes. I had goosebumps. Being into music, I always collected different vinyls, and in 2018 I happened to discuss my dream of a vinyl bar with one of the co-partners. We got busy with our respective projects, but we also saw an uptick in vinyl. That time we didn't expect it to become as significant as it has become now," says Chandrasekaran, adding that according to the Recording Industry Association of America, there is a 30 per cent increase in vinyl worldwide compared to previous years.

The collection at this space has been curated for a while. "When we wanted to open the place, we realised music is subjective. So we kept the collection across decades like from Sinatra to Kendrick Lamar's latest album – Mr. Morale & the Big Steppers, and everything in between like Reggae, Bob Marley, Abba to name a few," says Chandrasekaran, adding that getting vinyls in India can be hard, considering you have to go to specific distributors.

Vikram Mahatobar, owner of Mahatobar in Utility Building, agrees. "It is still a niche audience. It has not reached a stage in India where it has become common. It is a costly hobby because records are expensive, and you need a player. However, it is a gratifying hobby," says Mahatobar, who meets his clients through appointments. Mahatobar, who has been in the business for the past eight years, points out that the music experience on vinyl is entirely different from any digital version, which is one of the prime reasons for the industry to survive.

HELP POURS IN

Assam is witnessing one of the worst floods in history – but all is not lost yet, as many from the city are pitching in to bring relief

ISHRATH MUBEEN

AS the flood situation in Assam remains grim, compassionate souls in Bengaluru are coming to the forefront to help the affected people. One of them is stand-up comedian Abhineet Mishra who performed in Bengaluru recently to raise funds for the same. "There are two reasons why this is important to me. One was to amplify their struggle on social media and the other was to help them," he says, adding, "I am well versed with the condition and intensity of the disaster since I come from Meghalaya, where floods come as annual festivals and destroy livelihoods that take months together to get back to normal.

Two years ago, Mishra had raised ₹10 lakh for flood-hit Assam, by shooting a show with no audience. "It was to symbolise that that region of India has so many stories to tell but it doesn't even have any audience. This time I have documented a video showing the devastation and angst of the people. It was followed by two comedy shows I did as fundraisers and we have collected ₹ 5 lakh so far," says Mishra, adding that the amount will be sent to NGOs who are at the forefront. The utilisation will be made transparent on his social media handles. "I am aware of my limitations but doing something is better than doing nothing," adds Mishra.

The committee of the Assam Society of Bangalore has collected ₹ 1 lakh so far and aims to reach ₹ 5 lakh in the next 10 days. Dhiraj Talukdar, advisor and former general secretary says that they are raising funds and are not planning on sending any relief kits this time. "All the funds will be transferred to our counterpart in Assam. They will distribute food, sanitary napkins, diapers, baby foods and more," he says.

Primarily working for their rehabilitation, Talukdar says that this year, the floods are massive and have caused severe damage. "In a situation like this, we can't choose and save families. Instead, we are planning to raise enough funds to be able to provide relief kits," he says.

Praveen Shukla, founder of Being Social-Ek Nayi Shuruwaat, an NGO is also one of those who has raised funds for the flood-hit communities. "We are helping Assam flood-affected citizens by distributing water bottles, meals, grocery kits and women's hygiene products. We are sending volunteers to Assam to work on ground with the funds we raise," says Shukla, adding that they maintain meticulous records on how the money is used. "After the money is collected, we send the donors videos and pictures of the distribution," he says.

FIT BIT

VISHNUASANA VARIATION
(EASY SIDE RECLINING LEG LIFT POSE)

Vishnuasana is an intermediate level, asymmetrical, balancing, side reclining pose that forms part of the Hip Opening Yoga Sequences as well as the Chakra Yoga Sequences with the focus on the Muladhara (Root) Chakra. The flexibility of the legs coupled with hip opening and core strengthening is perfect for activities that demand agility. Pregnant women can do it against the wall to prevent wobbling.

STEPS

- After releasing from Matsyasana (Fish Pose), turn your body towards the right side balancing on the right elbow, resting the head on your right palm.
- Here, inhale and place the left palm on the floor, close to your abdomen. Balance the body on the right side of the hips and the shoulders.
- Inhale and slowly raise the left leg up to about 20 degrees, making sure only to use the thigh muscles and less of the abdominal muscles.
- Taking the leg up and down for about four rounds, feel the stretch at the upper leg and the hips.
- Here, the slow tightening of the hip muscles while involving the pelvic floor muscles helps to bring the uterus to the original shape tightening the muscles around it.
- Remain here taking the leg up and down or placing the leg up in the air for about 6 breaths. Release and turn to the left side and do for about 6 breaths.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the upper abdomen, shoulders and arms with the balance.
- Tones abdominal muscles.
- Strengthens and stretches the two sides of your torso.
- Improves the flexibility of your leg muscles and spine.
- Hamstrings are strengthened and stretched.
- Minimises fat in the thighs and hips through stretching action.
- Promotes excellent blood circulation in your leg muscles.
- Prevents issues like hernia by toning muscles. Smoothens varicose veins.

LIMITATIONS

People who have pain in their hip, neck or shoulders, avoid this.

People suffering from spondylitis, slip disc, or sciatica must consult with a yoga expert.

Do some preparatory poses before doing this asana.

CHAMPAGNE AND CAVIAR

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

HOLA, my tribe! Whenever there is a personal or political upheaval, I hear the pet phrase, 'Mars is in retrograde! I have caught myself saying it often enough (mostly in jest), but as time passes, I know there is a serious note that has crept into that phrase. When my friends laugh and say 'et tu Rubi', I brush the remark away with a witty one-liner before sweeping it under the carpet.

I, too, have noticed that some months weigh more heavily on my shoulders than others. I must sheepishly admit that I have kept track of the 'heavy' months for the last couple of years. Unconsciously perhaps, I have noticed a specific pattern, especially in my emotional and mental well-being. Tax-paying, festive or birthday months are heavy on one's pocket, and financial constraints make a person a wee bit edgy. Still, funnily enough, there are certain months when my conflict levels seem higher, be it at home or work. I am quite convinced that the planet Mars is up to no good!

Technically speaking, these should be the most exciting months of my life. Still, I am overtaken with a feeling of ennui and restlessness. Maybe I follow the straight and narrow path, with a strict moral code and a refinement synonymous with a genteel upbringing. Maybe we are not the millennials or the Gen-X's! Maybe we are cautious and fortuitous and boring and not living it up like the deceptors and con-artistes of the world! Maybe we should learn to throw caution to the winds and live dangerously.

I was thrilled to be invited to the 'hostess with the mostest, Priya Mascarenhas's rocking party. Everyone who was anyone was there. With their kids and grandkids, the auld and genteel Bengaluru gentry were there in full strength. The people who rocked the longest and hardest to the beats of a fantastic Goan band were our fun-loving city's 'gentrified' people. Dancing like no one was watching and happy to be alive and well amongst one's friends and family. It was Priya and Mohan's happiness party where Mohan played a beautiful tribute on his harmonica for his friend who had passed. There wasn't a dry eye as the son of the said gentlemen led his mother onto the dance floor to waltz to his late father's favourite song. And why did Priya have this party...to celebrate life! There you go!

Manjusha Maheshwari, Deepak Menezes and Sadiqa Peerbhoy

So parties and celebrations crowded my week. My spirit was willing, but 'my flesh' was weak and protesting. Dancing in heels has never sat well with me, and kicking my shoes off while dancing poses other problems like who will help me put them on again!

Sumalatha Ambareesh & Priya Mascarenhas

Leaving all these mental protestations aside, I walked in tall and proud to celebrate the iconic ITC Windsor's fortieth anniversary. The ballroom abounded with old friends and good cheer as the hotel had pulled out all the stops for this celebration. Scrumptious food was available everywhere, as their equally iconic restaurants laid out their best fare. Champagne, music, food, frolic and the guests thoroughly enjoying themselves made Deepak Menezes, their new GM, a happy man.

As the famous Robin Leach catch-line went, 'Champagne wishes and caviar dreams.' Why not, huh?

WINSTON CHURCHILL

SHIVANNA SHINES BRIGHT IN BAIRAGEE

RATING 3/5

BAIRAGEE

Cast: Shiva Rajkumar, Anjali, Dhananjaya, Pruthvee Ambaar, Yasha Shivakumar, Shashikumar, Sharath Lohitashwa, Vinod Alva, Anu Prabhakar, Chikanna

Director: Vijay Milton

A SHARADHAA

AFTER his directorial stints in Tamil, cinematographer-turned-director Vijay Milton makes his Kannada debut with an adaptation of his 2017 Tamil film, Kadugu. Credits to the filmmaker for envisioning a mass star like Shivarajkumar in a character-driven role.

The movie, which begins with an energetic song followed by an action sequence, introduces Shivappa (Shivarajkumar) as a folk artist who specialises in hulivesha. He is a man of principles and is known for his helping nature. An untoward incident lands him at the police station, and he ends up making a living by doing errands for the area inspector (Shashikumar). The inspector at one point gets transferred, and Shivappa goes along with him. Here, he befriends Vaathapi (Pruthvi Ambaar) and gets to meet Karna (Dhananjay), a boxer with political aspirations and wields clout in the town. A teacher (Anjali), who has a bad past, finds goodness in Shivappa and develops friendships on Facebook. A triangular love story brews between Vaathapi, Shobina (Yasha Shivakumar) and Karna. However, the soul of the film is Keerthi (Saptha Poorvi), a school girl, who becomes a victim at the hands of an MLA. Bairagee is then about how the calm and docile Shivappa turns violent and goes about exacting justice.

Points to Vijay Milton for adapting Kadugu to the Kannada sensibilities and injecting freshness into the narrative. He has made full use of Shivanna's abilities and brings out the best from him as an actor, a dancer, and an action star. Shivarajkumar convincingly pulls off the role of a pulivesha artist, and gives a stellar all-around performance. Shivanna takes us back to the classic characters that he played in films like Om, Jogi, and Kaddipudi. Equal effort comes from Dhananjay, who excels in a negative role. Pruthvi Ambaar's role and his on-screen chemistry with Shivarajkumar make for a delightful watch. Anjali, Saptha Poorvi, Kalpana Naganath, and Yasha Shivakumar make their prominence felt. Shashikumar, as an inspector, and Sharath Lohithaswa as MLA play their part well.

A special mention should go to dialogue writer, Guru Kashyap, who has penned some strong lines that help in elevating the characters.

Bairagee comes with a good mix of songs, and a wonderful background score by Anoop Seelin. Vijay himself being the film's cinematographer has given a realistic approach to the visuals. With the right kind of cast, good performances and a neat approach in the making, Bairagee is a film that will appeal to the masses and the family audience.

A MURDER MYSTERY LACED WITH LOVE

WINDOW SEAT

Cast: Nirup Bhandari, Sanjana Anand, Amrutha Iyengar, Arjun Janya

Director: Sheetal Shetty

A SHARADHAA

ANCHOR-turned-actor Sheetal Shetty has donned the directorial hat for her debut film, Window Seat, and comes out with a fresh perspective rather than sticking with formulaic subjects. In her debut film, Sheetal highlights the relationship between mental illness and crimes, and adds in layers of romance, a missing person, a murder, and its investigation. It has an unexpected plot, and the big question is if it managed to keep the viewers on the edge of their seats.

Raghu (Nirup Bhandari), a musician working in a resort, travels by train between Sagar and Talaguppa. On his commute, Raghu sits by the window every single time to catch a glimpse of a home, which houses a young girl that he has a crush on. But the same girl brings shockwaves to his life. A series of twists and turns reveal the shocking truths of Raghu's past, and there are multiple shades to his role. The movie shows how Raghu's life intersects with those people around him. A triangular love story also fits into the plot with Anjali (Armutha Iyengar), the resort owner, who is also in love with the musician. Will Raghu find justice, and who is the real culprit is what is brought out in this murder mystery.

Window Seat, which revolves around love, life, and loss, is surrounded by a gloomy atmosphere and takes time to build up. The director manages to establish the present and the past of the protagonist and allows it to progress with its twists and turns. At times, the plot seems to lose its grip, but the investigation is what takes the story forward. While the narration enables us to understand the plight of certain characters, in the end, it leaves it to the audience whether they want to sympathise with the protagonist's situation.

Sheetal, who had established herself in other fields before taking on her first directorial project, is slowly learning the craft. She has understood the basic techniques of filmmaking and skillfully manages to handle sensitive topics and complications of relationships.

RATING 3/5

Nirup Bhandari puts up a convincing portrayal of a role that required him to showcase various emotions. Sanjana Anand and Amrutha Iyenger's characters symbolise a girl's desire, love, and constraints. Lekha Naidu as the police officer Parvati excels in a neatly sketched role. Suraj, as a sidekick to the police officer, brings comic relief, and we have Ravi Shankar in a cameo, and Madhusudhan Rao who perfectly fit in their respective roles. The soothing music of Arjun Janya and good visuals from Vignesh Raj are added advantages to the film.

A whodunit laced with love, and mystery with similarities to the Bollywood film The Girl on the Train, does not make for easy viewing and requires patience to understand the subject. However, it marks an unconventional attempt by Sheetal Shetty in her impressive debut.

Kate Winslet's look from Avatar: The Way of Water out

CE FEATURES

THE first look images of English actor Kate Winslet's character from the upcoming film, Avatar: The Way of Water, are out now.

The images were released by British publication Empire Magazine exclusively worldwide. Kate, who previously collaborated with Cameron in Titanic, will be seen as Na'vi warrior Ronal in the second installment of Cameron's Avatar franchise, following the 2009 film.

Avatar is set in the mid-22nd century of Pandora, a habitable moon in the Alpha Centauri star system, which is colonised by humans to mine valuable minerals. In the upcoming film, Avatar: The Way of Water will explore the oceans of Pandora that will also feature new clans, creatures and adventures. Speaking to Empire Magazine, Kate said about her character, "She is strong. A warrior. Even in the face of grave danger, and with an unborn baby on board, she still fights for what she holds most dear. Her family and their home." In the sequel, Kate's Ronal leads the Metkayina tribe, who live in Pandora's oceans.

According to reports, Winslet learned how to hold breath underwater, which also resulted in her breaking Tom Cruise's record of holding breath underwater for six minutes for Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation. For the Avatar sequel, Kate held her breath for seven minutes and 14 seconds.

The film is set to hit the theatres on December 16.

MADHAVAN, SIMRAN PROPEL THIS COMPELLING BIOPIC

ROCKETRY - THE NAMBI EFFECT

Cast: Madhavan, Simran, Rajeev Ravindranath, Sam Mohan

Director: Madhavan

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

AT one point in Rocketry: The Nambi Effect, we see Madhavan's Nambi Narayanan drive a snow sled in Russia as he tries to smuggle off rocket components just as the Americans come to confiscate them. There are snow-capped mountains, an almost femme fatale-type Russian, and a rocket scientist who can handle his champagne. Rocketry feels like it could be our very own The-World-is-Not-Enough-meets-A-Beautiful-Mind. However, that is not the story Madhavan is going for.

It is interesting that Madhavan, who makes his directorial debut with Rocketry, begins proceedings with actor Suriya, playing himself, interviewing Nambi in a live show. The premise isn't new, but we already see glimpses into Madhavan's directorial style that prefers elevated melodrama, especially among peripheral characters. There is a gradual buildup to the crescendo, and we are introduced to Nambi's family. This is intercut (editor Bijith Bala employs a smart editing style in the film) by the country waking up to the news of Nambi's alleged treachery. What happened to Nambi was the primitive form of 'Cancel Culture' where an allegation was enough to tarnish the image of a man who gave everything to his country. However, Madhavan doesn't just want to concentrate on the humiliation suffered by Nambi and his family at the hands of the power structures and people in the country. He wants to show us the man behind the flowing white beard. The narration moves back and forth to reintroduce us to the life and times of Nambi Narayanan, a stubborn rocket scientist, whose only aim in life was to put Indian rocket science on the global map.

RATING 3/5

Starting from the times of Vikram Sarabhai, we see Nambi's scientific exploits, his sojourns in Europe and the USA, his rejection of the highly lucrative NASA offer, and his run-ins with red-tapism in India when it came to funding science. While these portions help us warm up to the enterprising life of Nambi Narayanan, it bares open a few problems in the writing. For one, there is a striking dissonance in the Tamil dialogues, and it doesn't feel organic. Also, these portions, which are set in the 70s, have humour that might have been best left in that era. However, points to Madhavan and team for not trying to dumb down rocket science to make it appealing. Most of these scientific conversations that Nambi Narayanan has with his colleagues and friends isn't something all of us would understand because it is indeed... rocket science. But the writing around these portions keeps us invested in the success of these missions and not about what the mission is all about. All we know is Nambi and co. are doing it for India, and this patriotism pulls us through.

Although these sequences explore international espionage, systemic corruption, and vanquished dreams, Rocketry truly becomes effective when it focusses on what Nambi Narayanan, his wife Meena (a terrific Simran), children Geeta (Misha Ghoshal) and Shankar (Shyam Renganathan), and son-in-law Arunan (Muralidharan) go through, after the allegations surface. For instance, right after repeated bouts of torture, there is a monologue by Nambi. It is Madhavan's finest onscreen performance. Even in his acceptance of defeat, there is a sense of defiance. Even in that debilitating humiliation, Madhavan exudes the confidence of an honest man. Standing strong with him is Simran, who once again proves why she is a consummate performer. Her guttural cries will be ringing in our ears long after the credits roll. The rest, especially Nambi's team — Param (Rajeev Ravindranath), Sartaj (Bhawsheel), and Unni (Sam Mohan) — are perfect foils. The actor in Madhavan, in fact, comfortably outshines the director in him. While some of the facets of his directorial approach are commendable—like the time of Nambi Narayanan's arrival on screen—there are other places that scream for different choices.

Most biopics made in Indian cinema, especially those about living people, border on being hagiographies. Nambi Narayanan's story makes for a cautionary yet fascinating tale on how a bonafide national treasure got unceremoniously discarded for a long time. It speaks of how even during the darkest times, trust in the goodness of people and the judiciary helps. It delves deep into how rumours and mob mentality easily ruins reputations. It also doesn't shy away from raining complaints about his parent organisation, ISRO, and even nudges us into the idea of who was behind this treachery. Yes, our cinema often treats biopics as hagiographies, but when it is of someone like Padma Bhushan Nambi Narayanan, perhaps it's not so wrong.
